There's Snow All Around Us

Chains were the order of the day for Vancouver motorists who had to buck nearly ten inches of snow over the weekend, as shown on left. Malahat travellers, right, on Vancouver Island, had it easier, but driving conditions were still risky until plows went to work and highway was sanded Sunday, and was sprinkling again lightly this morning. Car caution is still urged.

BERLIN (AP)—The people of West Berlin gave an emphatic no Sunday to Communist plans to drive the Western allies out of their city.

But the resounding Communist defeat in the election of a new West Berlin Parliament did not kill the Soviet proposal to end the four-power occupation and turn West Berlin into a demilitarized free city. Red spokesmen said the proposal still stands.

No Communist candidates were victorious in the election, viewed widely as a plebiscite on Nikita Khrushchev's proposal. The Communists were the only ones who supported the Soviet proposals.

CANDIDATES REJECT BRIGGS PLAN

By STAFF REPORTER

TRAIL — Anti-government parties represented in the Rossland-Trail by-election today officially declined the suggestion of H. Lee Briggs that they combine behind a single candidate to defeat Social Credit.

When nominations closed at 1 p.m., candidates for all four parties had filed individual papers with district returning officer, Mrs. S. E. Angus of Rossland.

The ousted power commission general manager, who is warring with the government over its power development policies, published an ad here calling for a two-way fight. CCF, Liberal and Conservative candidates should draw lots, he said and match one champion against "dictatorship."

Smashing Win for Willy Brandt

Brandt, leader of the Socialists, was re-elected in a smashing personal triumph. His party got 78 of the 133 seats in Parliament, a solid majority. The remaining 55 went to the Christian Democrats, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's party.

The Communist candidates received a mere 1.9 per cent of the vote, compared with 2.7 per cent in the last election in 1954. They never have won a parliamentary seat in West Berlin.

Brandt, 44, became the undisputed leader of West Berlin and thus a strong eventual contender for the West German chancellorship.

He announced he will go to Bonn later this week to confer with Adenauer. But he declined to say whether he will form an all-Socialist government or whether he will continue the previous coalition with the Christian Democrats. In the last parliament, which had only 127 seats, the Socialists held 64 for a majority of one.

Russia Wants Western Allies Out

The Soviet Union is proposing that the French, British and U.S. troops leave West Berlin within six months and turn it into a free city independent of both West Germany and Communist East Germany.

Brandt, Adenauer and allied officials have denounced the plan. They say West Berlin, since it lies 110 miles inside East Germany, soon would be grabbed by the Communists.

Moscow Radio scoffed at suggestions the election was any kind of referendum on the Soviet proposals.

"It is clear to everyone that the elections have nothing to do with the Soviet proposals," the radio said, quoting from a Pravda editorial.

The small parties were the election losers. In the old city parliament, they had 20 seats. This time not one of the minor factions won a seat.

The turnout was tremendous. Out of a total population of about 2,200,000, more than 1,600,000 voted.

The Socialists rolled up a total of 849,883 votes, and the Christian Democrats 608,927. Far behind them came the Free Democrats with 61,054, the German Party with 53,899, the Communists with 31,520 and the Free People's Party with 10,675.

'MILK FOR HUNGRY CHILDREN'

Ground Bark for Dinner

In isolated areas, children eat only one meal every second day—when available.

Diet often consists of ground-up bark.

If a child suffering the horrible malnutrition of some of the Asian countries was seen on a Victoria street, terrific consternation would be reflected to the highest government and religious circles. And remedial action would be fast.

The broad highway we all walk through life has many such children standing, tired and hungry, by the side. They are, in effect, the victims of the world's so-called adult behavior—the side-issues of war and economic chaos.

This imposes a moral obligation few would ignore.

Specifically this year, the Unitarian Service Committee, helped by the Victoria Times, is again endeavoring to bridge this gap between well-fed Canadians and the children of Korea, areas in India and in Hong Kong.

By Christmas, $200,000 is needed to ship dried milk, made available by the Canadian government.

The children are so glad to get this medium-of-relief for their distended stomachs, it is frequently eaten raw!

Girl Crawls Barefoot In Snow

1,000-Foot Climb After Car Crash

HOPE, B.C. (CP)—An 18-year-old Vancouver girl struggled barefoot up a 1,000-foot snow slope for help Sunday after her father died in a spectacular auto crash on the Hope-Princeton Highway.

Dazed and bleeding, she was forced to crawl past the dead body of her father and her injured mother, a sister and a girl friend.

The dead is Walter Norman Matthews, 43, Vancouver.

In Chilliwack General Hospital are his wife, Wilhelmina, 41, dislocated right shoulder and abrasions; daughter Walline—who made the climb up the slope—fractured left leg, frostbite in both feet, broken ribs, face lacerations, abrasions; daughter Roberta, 13, broken wrist, possible abdominal injuries, possible fractured spine; and Enid Longham, injured eye, lacerations and possibly fractured spine. Their condition today was fair.

Two RCMP constables and a dozen volunteers worked 6½ hours with a mercy sleigh at the end of a long tow truck cable to get the dead man and the injured off the mountain.

The car, a 1951 Ford, slid off the highway three miles east of Hope, just past a rock retaining wall. Hope is at the western end of the Fraser Canyon.

LOOSE SNOW

Police blamed loose snow for the accident.

The girl floundered through the snow for half an hour before she reached the top and flagged down a passing car.

Police said the five occupants of the car tumbled out one after another as the vehicle rolled crazily down the long bank.

Highways department crews and suitably dressed passersby were recruited for the long rescue operation.

A number of citizens from Hope, learning of the accident, rushed out to help.

Police praised the girl's heroic climb for help.

"I just don't see how she made it to the top," an amazed RCMP officer said.

SECOND STEP TAKEN TOWARD ATOM TREATY

GENEVA (Reuters)—American, British and Soviet experts today agreed on article two of a draft treaty to ban tests of nuclear weapons.

The three nuclear powers agreed Saturday on the text of a first article of a draft treaty to discontinue tests under an effective control system.

Today's article, on the establishment of a control organization, aims at assuring that the obligations of the treaty are carried out by the parties, a press communique said.

2 Men Missing Aboard Troller

Sportsman Hurt In Alberni Crash

ALBERNI — Two Victoria men were hurt, one seriously, when their car was in collision with another vehicle here Saturday, RCMP reported today.

Frank D. Nuttall, well-known Victoria sportsman, 1231 Tattersall, was in "fair" condition in West Coast General Hospital, believed to be suffering from a punctured lung. Condition of his companion, Thomas Hincks, 969 Marchant, was not immediately known.

Missing is the 35-foot troller Centennial.

Six fishing boats and the government lifeboat at Tofino searched without success all day Sunday. Officials said visibility was cut by heavy snow.

The search was concentrated in the Ahousat area, about 130 miles northwest of Victoria.

The vessel is owned by Earl George of Ahousat, who was not believed to be aboard.

ANDY'S BAY — Two men leaped to safety onto a log boom when their 37-foot boom tug sank under them Sunday at this logging settlement at the northwest tip of Vancouver Island.

The men, Lief Nilssen of Andy's Bay and Allan Breden of North Vancouver, were rescued by a logger in a small boat.

The tug, Weaver Bay, was owned by Coastal Towing Ltd.

PLANES DELAYED

The first two TCA flights to Vancouver were delayed today due to eight inches of snow at the Vancouver airport.

At Vancouver the forecasters warned there could be another four or five inches today as another Pacific storm moves across the coast.

The storm, worst in Vancouver since January, 1950, struck irregularly across the province.

Only City Area Escapes Fall

While southern B.C. struggled today under its heaviest blanket of snow in nine years, the 1.9 inches that fell in Victoria Saturday and Sunday was nearly entirely dissipated by 1.31 inches of rain which followed during the weekend.

Victoria is almost surrounded by snow—about three inches on the Malahat; three inches at Brentwood; two inches at Patricia Bay Airport.

In the Sooke area, snowfall late Saturday had disappeared today, except on the hills.

Nanaimo reported eight inches; Comox 14; Campbell River 12 and the Alberni Valley eight inches.

On the mainland, Vancouver peered out from under 10 inches of snow and more was expected today.

Government snowplows Sunday cleared the Malahat of slush and sanded the road surface. The highways department said driving conditions up-Island were satisfactory, but urged caution in case of possible fresh icing.

Light snow was falling again this morning.

Apart from a bus which went into a ditch at Nanaimo there were no reports of up-Island accidents. A male passenger suffered a cut leg in the bus mishap.

ALBERNI FIRE

Mrs. Sidney Mack took her baby to a neighbor while the men of the house battled flames which caused heavy damage to the residence of Jimmy Gallic, Sr., of No. 2 Indian Reserve.

The fire was first noticed by Sidney Mack at 4:30 a.m. One wall of a bedroom was ablaze and he awakened the other five members of the household.

The volunteer fire department was called but was unable to attend as the home was outside city limits.

Neighbors helped control the fire. Cause of the fire was not known.

Phone Hearing Opens

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Telephone Company today opened an application before the Board of Transport Commissioners for a 12½ per cent increase in telephone rates to increase its annual revenue by $3,754,000.

Provincial OK Not Needed On Basic Rights Says Judge

OTTAWA (CP)—The head of Canada's Exchequer Court says parliament can seek an amendment to the constitution to guarantee certain fundamental freedoms without prior approval of the provinces.

Mr. Justice J. T. Thorson, opening a three-day national conference on human rights, said today there is strong support for such an amendment.

Mr. Justice Thorson, former president of the International Commission of Jurists, was discussing Canada's proposed new bill of rights, introduced in the dying hours of the parliamentary session and slated to come up again in the new session starting in mid-January.

He said the bill does not meet the "needs of the situation."

There were certain freedoms—of speech, the press and of association and assembly—that "so completely underlie our federal system that it could not operate without them."

As such, these freedoms belonged to every person in Canada and were not matters of property and civil rights, constitutionally reserved for provincial jurisdiction.

Mr. Justice Thorson added: "There is strong support for the view that these freedoms, at any rate, ought to be embedded in our constitution by an appropriate amendment of the British North America Act so that not even the Parliament of Canada can detract from them."

"And it would seem to follow from what I have said that Parliament could properly seek such an amendment without the prior approval of the provinces since the subject matter of the amendment is not within their legislative competence."

Two organizations, the Canadian Labor Congress and the Canadian Jewish Congress, urged amendment of the BNA Act of 1867 to make sure freedoms such as those in the bill of rights remain untouched by later legislation.

A third brief, presented by the National Council of Women of Canada, agreed with Mr. Justice Thorson that there is an uneasy feeling in Canada today that individual liberties may be infringed, but said it does not think the time is ripe to guarantee these liberties by constitutional amendment.

PORTLAND, Ore. — Richard Gillett, 22, and Dorothy Manewal, 16, had a date Saturday night. They discovered they were brother and sister.

Gillett said they were separated 10 years ago when their mother died. He was adopted by a family in Canby, she by one in Gladstone, both small towns near here.

A friend introduced Richard to Dorothy several days ago. "I sort of liked Dick and we made a date for Saturday night," said Miss Manewal, a high school student.

"Saturday she explained," said Gillett, "that Dorothy wasn't her real name and that she really was Sara Esther Alridge."

"It wasn't until then that I knew she was my sister, because my real name is Michael Charles Alridge," said Gillett, a factory workman at nearby Oregon City.

Gillett said he had known all along that he had a sister, but had never tried to find her. Dorothy said the same of her brother.

Sunday, Richard was at his sister's home, helping her make Christmas decorations.

SNOW

In the interior, Kelowna had 12 inches and Princeton reported 16, while Nelson had 6½ inches. Kamloops only two and the Cariboo was snow free.

CARS ABANDONED
In Vancouver hundreds of cars were abandoned at the sides of streets and highways in the city and suburbs. Most could not negotiate snow-slicked hills.

The city brought in 78 pieces of equipment to clear off main streets. No serious accidents were reported.

Portions of west end Stanley Park's nine-mile drive were closed when the weight of snow threatened to topple trees onto the road. There were scores of minor power failures.

The weight of snow forced 23 boat houses down into the water at the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club, damaging berthed yachts. Damage was estimated at $35,000.

POWER OUT
Five districts on the North Shore, across Burrard Inlet, were without electricity for varying periods because of felled trees and other snow-induced factors.

A blizzard struck the Fraser Valley Sunday and by 4 p.m. the main road between Chilliwack and Hope was blocked by three-foot drifts. Dozens of cars were stalled on the highway for three hours until a plow opened a single lane.

The heavy snow was expected to mean further unemployment. As many as 5,000 loggers in B.C.'s Lower Mainland and Vancouver Island could be laid off if the snow continues to halt woods operations.

LOGGING HIT
The snow has slowed down Island logging operations involving about 3,000 men. Most of the camps are operating at high levels, adversely affected by snowfall. If more snow comes—as the forecast predicts—operations could be halted entirely.

There has been little drifting on the Island as winds have been sporadic at between 15 and 20 mph.

A mixture of snow and rain is predicted for Victoria tonight and temperatures will again reach the low 30s, climbing to near 40 Tuesday.

There is a battle between Arctic air and mild air coming from the southwest over this region, and temperatures are expected to remain steady for the time being due to the mixture.

Greater Victoria municipal engineers report no major complaints despite the "heavy" precipitation.

Socreds Start 'Big Push'
With Flood of Pamphlets

By PETE LOUDON
Times Political Reporter

TRAIL — The "Big Push" by Social Credit is now underway in the Rossland-Trail by-election. Election day is Dec. 15.

The new offensive is marked by a flood of campaign literature and a stepped-up TV campaign which is dwarfing the spending of the three other parties combined.

Three more cabinet ministers have entered the fight. And for the first time, voters have heard a spirited defence of Robert Sommers by a party spokesman.

The riding was blanketed on the weekend with two-color, slick-paper pamphlets, four to a bundle, a bundle to a house. As well, thousands of copies of a recent issue of Time Magazine, which devotes an eight page section to B.C. progress, have been mailed to voters.

The Social Credit party is beaming TV spot announcements into the area.

Among the pamphlets is a copy of the apology to Premier Bennett by the Vancouver Province which followed the first partly-incorrect story of proposed government handling of B.C. Power Commission debt.

Herbert Bruch drove over the snowy roads to keep the speaking date.

That was where Mr. Bruch made a defence of the former lands and forest minister, Robert Sommers, who lost his seat when convicted of accepting bribes.

"Of all the members in the legislature," said Mr. Bruch—avoiding, as have all other speakers of all parties, mentioning Sommers by name—"the member you had from Rossland-Trail most certainly represented this area to the best of his ability."

He credited Mr. Sommers with having delivered one of the best speeches of the last session of the legislature, and said it was not true this riding was not adequately represented.

Bad weather, which grounded aircraft, delayed the arrival of Mr. Peterson and Mr. Black. They missed a scheduled meeting at Fruitvale (10 miles away), Saturday, but candidate Brothers and Esquimalt MLA

Sommers Action 'Mistake'—Bruch

He denied there is an issue of political morality involved in the by-election.

"Do you want a government and an attorney-general who are themselves going to be judge and jury?" he asked.

The government was right in delaying any action until the courts had finally issued a decision, he contended. The opposition wanted the attorney-general to suddenly make a decision which it took a jury six months to arrive at, said Mr. Bruch.

"This has been our stand: If there was evidence of wrongdoing, there were certain ways to proceed."

"If there was negligence on anyone's part, there was negligence on the part of the people who did not present evidence in sufficient quantity or earlier than they did," Mr. Bruch said.

Bruch Contradicts Bennett Claim

The opposition "had to admit this was carried as a contingent liability." It never was listed as direct debt of the province.

Opposition speakers have admitted this, but point out the $28,000,000 remained nonetheless in the government's name and as long as this was the case, it would detract from the premier's anticipated debt-free picture in 1960.

Mr. Bruch said the only reason the premier was interested in refinancing the BCP bonds held by the government was that "when there are bond issues out, there are certain times they can be redeemed." In the case of these bonds, the time is now.

On one major point Mr. Bruch contradicted an earlier statement by the premier.

Mr. Briggs had said the premier intended that various government trust funds would invest in a new BCP bond issue at a 4 per cent rate of return while current market return rate is 5.1 per cent interest.

Mr. Briggs said the lost interest payable to the public trust funds, plus the loss to the power commission which would be paying higher than the 3.1 per cent it now pays,

Space Miss 'Corrects' Next Shot

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a second space shot ahead, U.S. Army scientists set out today to correct troubles that thwarted their first effort to hurl a tiny package of instruments into orbit around the sun.

At the same time, they rated the experiment a success in measuring the depth of man-poisoning radiation around the earth.

The space-probe Pioneer III — first of two assigned to the army — met its flaming end over North Africa at 11:51 p.m. PST Sunday.

Fired aloft by four-stage rocket early Saturday, the 13-pound cone reached an altitude of 66,654 miles before falling back and burning in the heat-generated by atmospheric friction.

All told, it was 38 hours and six minutes in flight.

Launched at Too Low an Angle

The army's intent with Pioneer III was to pass the moon and perhaps go into orbit around the sun, some 93,000,000 miles away.

Scientists said it was launched at too low an angle. And they said its first stage fuel shut off three seconds too soon, cutting its speed below the 24,900 miles an hour needed to break away from the earth's main gravitational pull.

The army's space specialists said valuable knowledge on radiation had been gained from Pioneer III's journey.

The degree and depth of radiation in space is important to scientists looking ahead to the time when man may travel toward the moon and the planets.

Dr. William H. Pickering said the army probe's round trip into space enabled scientists to get twice the amount of radiation data they would have gotten if the gold-plated cone had continued on instead of returning toward earth.

Man Admits 16 Parking Violations

Langford motorist Clarence E. Mitten was fined $40 and $5 costs when he pleaded guilty in city police court Saturday to 16 charges of parking meter violations dating back to Oct. 7.

He was arrested when he failed to appear in answer to police court summonses.

Magistrate H. C. Hall asked why Mitten had not appeared.

"I have considerable traveling to do and any summonses I've received have been through the mail..."

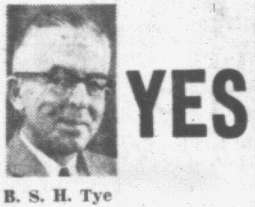

"You paid no attention to the summons?" Magistrate Hall asked.

Mitten started to explain he did not receive them all and the court observed again that at least one of them was served personally and was ignored.

"But I didn't ignore them..."

"Don't interrupt," the magistrate admonished.

Mitten was fined $2.50 and $5 costs on the first charge and $2.50 on each of the others.

College Head Quits In 'Letter' Furore

WINNIPEG (CP) — The principal of United College resigned today after an eight-month dispute over an intercepted private letter that led to the firing of the professor who wrote it and to the resignation of 14 other faculty members in protest.

Dr. Wilfred C. Lockhart, 52, announced his resignation at a press conference. He said in a statement the "vicious personal attacks" upon him in the dispute had made him incapable of discharging his duties.

The letter was written by Prof. Harry Crowe last March while on a year's leave to lecture at Queen's University in Kingston. Contents have never been made public.

REACHED LOCKHART

It reached Dr. Lockhart with an anonymous note drawing his attention to the contents. A dispute with Prof. Crowe followed and he was dismissed in September.

He charged that the letter was personal and confidential but that it had been photostated and used against him. Prof. Crowe declined to make the letter public on grounds it was "completely irrelevant and of no consequence" in his dispute with the college.

The board of regents said following his dismissal that Prof. Crowe's attitude toward religion as expressed in the letter "is incompatible with the traditions and objectives of United College", which is supported by the United Church of Canada and is affiliated with the University of Manitoba.

In a statement today on Dr. Lockhart's resignation, Allan H. Watson, chairman of the board of regents of United College, said the board would make a statement following a special meeting to be held "as soon as possible".

Prof. Crowe has not yet commented on Dr. Lockhart's resignation.

A total of 14 resignations by the teaching staff of the college have been submitted since Prof. Crowe's dismissal. All have said they would quit at the end of the academic year next fall.

The 14 resignations from the 52-member faculty included that of Dr. William A. Packer, associate German professor, to whom Prof. Crowe's letter was sent.

CROWE WAS 'VICTIM'

A committee of the Canadian Association of University Teachers investigated the case and reported that Prof. Crowe was the "victim of injustice" and should be reinstated.

Statements critical of the college administration have been issued by professors at the University of Manitoba and Queen's University, where Prof. Crowe was teaching for a year when he wrote the letter to Dr. Packer.

WAS A MINISTER

Before coming to Winnipeg in 1953, Dr. Lockhart was minister of Kingsway-Lambton United Church in Toronto.

Born in Dundalk, Ont., in 1906, he graduated in arts from the University of Toronto in 1929.

Leftist Leads in Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Romulo Betancourt, a veteran leftist back from exile, was increasing his lead today with more than half the votes counted in Venezuela's first free presidential election in a decade.

The 50-year-old leader of the anti-Communist Democratic Action party rolled up 561,644 votes to 523,157 for challenger Rear-Admiral Wolfgang Larrazabal in the three-way contest. Trailing far behind was Rafael Caldera of the more moderate Christian Socialists. He had 244,862 votes.

Larrazabal won an overwhelming majority of the votes in Caracas, where he made himself popular as leader of the junta that toppled dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez. The admiral was a slight favorite prior to the voting Sunday.

Two Women Killed In Fire at Hammond

(From CP Dispatches)
HAMMOND — Two women were burned to death here Sunday when fire destroyed their home, 15 miles east of Vancouver.

Mrs. Edna Rhodes, 41, and her invalid mother, Mrs. Olive Daisy Betts, 72, were killed. Dan Rhodes, 67, said he attempted to rescue his screaming wife but the heat drove him back.

The fire, believed to have started in the basement of the home where kindling wood was stacked, was first noticed by Mr. Rhodes when he saw a ventilation shaft turn red hot. He dashed out to get help from neighbors, after telling his wife to phone for the fire department.

He said he then ran back to attempt to rescue the women, but was unable to enter the house. He said the house burst into flames and was destroyed in 15 minutes.

The intense heat thwarted other rescue attempts. Firemen had to drive three miles through deep snow to reach the burning house, then found a fire hydrant frozen.

Flames Kill Boy

VANCOUVER — A nine-year-old boy was burned to death Sunday when he fell into the firepit of a large boiler at a shingle mill in North Vancouver.

Firemen said the unidentified boy was burned beyond recognition.

The boy had apparently gone into the North Shore shingle mill with a workman and another youngster. The two children wandered through the building to play and one fell into the fire pit.

HALIFAX (CP) — Hope was fading today for the safety of four hunters, two of them teenagers, missing in widely separated areas of Nova Scotia in biting cold weather.

Officials said could "blow your head off" were seized by the customs department here Saturday. All three had been sent as Christmas presents for Vancouver boys.

The models, capable of reaching speeds up to 200 miles an hour were seized on instructions of W. B. Paton, regional federal explosives inspector, who said "a premature explosion could blow a person's head or hands off."

"In flight, the model missiles could drive right through the human body."

Money by Printing Press

THE LEADING BANKERS OF Canada are clearly alarmed by the fiscal policies of the Federal Government. For the first time, in a series of recent statements, these experts of money recognize that the Government's gigantic deficits are one of the root causes of the Canadian dollar's erosion, commonly called inflation.

There are other causes as well, chiefly wage increases in excess of productivity, but the Government's deficit, leading to a straight monetary inflation, of itself assures a continuing rise in prices.

The full effects of the Government's policy, or lack of policy, have yet to be felt. The use of its increased money supply, as a lever to raise prices, has been held in check by a business recession. But as soon as the recession is over the money now in hiding, so to speak, will emerge to bid up prices.

In restrained bankers' language, which most of the public may not understand, Mr. Gordon R. Ball, president of the Bank of Montreal, says that the expansion of money has been arranged by the Government "partly, it would appear, in order to encourage a revival of business but also at times clearly to facilitate government financial operations."

What this means in plain layman's language is that the Government cannot collect by taxes or borrow from the people enough money to cover its deficit and therefore has created new money. Though money now-a-days is created by a more complex and polite method of bookkeeping, the result is precisely that of a printing press turning out new dollar bills.

The Government's present financial crisis began when it attempted to sell its bonds to the public last September and found the public unwilling to buy. One of the most alarming facts in the history of Canadian finance and public psychology then appeared. It was that after weeks of costly salesmanship and propaganda, the public held less Government bonds in the autumn of 1938 than it had held a year earlier.

The public would not buy more bonds because it distrusted the future value of money. Instead, investors hedged against inflation by purchasing equities and thus producing a bull market on the stock exchange.

The Government, therefore, had to borrow largely from the private banks and, to some extent, from its own Bank of Canada. When the Government borrows from the Bank of Canada new money is instantly created. That is what Mr. Hall and other bankers are talking about.

In addition, when the Government borrows from the private banks they hold Government bonds which, later on, they will sell and pump the resulting cash into active circulation through loans to their customers. This will further feed the fires of inflation.

Thus the Government's deficit inevitably generates inflationary forces, the strongest of which will not be felt until business improves and the extra money supply goes to work, as it were.

Already, however, some of the effects have been felt. As Mr. Ball says, prices have risen by 3 per cent in the last year and if this spiral is not arrested the purchasing power of the dollar will be cut in half in about 25 years.

That is to say, a middle-aged man, buying an annuity today, will find it worth half its present value at the time of his retirement. Or a worker arranging a pension through his employer and expecting to receive, say, $100 a month will really receive only $50.

From the bankers' worried statements some people may conclude that inflation damages only a few rich men and institutions. In fact, the rich men and institutions can look after themselves. It is the little man who suffers. He is the selected and certain victim of the Government's present fiscal policy.

An Ornament to Our City

MR. HERBERT KENT HAS slipped away from the city he cherished and those who held him dear—a fine old gentleman who grew a little weary at the close of 96 years that were bright and full.

By his death Victoria has lost an ornament and a symbol of a more gracious age. Herbert Kent, though his alert mind kept pace with the changes of the day, represented for many an era of courtesy and courtliness more noticeable in his younger years than in the city today.

Ingrained in him was a sense of personal responsibility to his community—a characteristic which led him to make a magnificent contribution to its musical life and to spend his talents for the public good.

He was of that gallant company which helped to develop an appreciation for the finer enjoyments of Victoria from its pioneer days.

We think of his passing in the words of William Ernest Henley: his task accomplished and the long day done, his wages taken and in his heart a late lark singing as he was gathered to the quiet west, the sundown splendid and sublime.

Come One, Come All—Exclusively

A FEW YEARS AGO THE BURDEN of this country's tourist song was simple. Let's have more good roads, sang the sirens of the visitor industry, and our problems will be ended.

Over a period of time, Canada has acquired some good roads—and needs more. It appears, though, that roads are not enough—that roads only attract the poorer element and miss the carriage trade.

Lance Connery, manager of the New York office of the Canadian Government Travel Bureau, has informed a federal-provincial tourist conference in Ottawa that:

"Canada as a vacation spot is a somewhat less than de luxe label to drop in conversation." He adds that it is the only neighbor of the United States easily reached by car. It is an automobile country and, says the expert, it ought to sharpen its prestige appeal.

A little more attention to events like the Queen opening Parliament would help, as would advertising in the higher class magazines. Tourist-wise, it appears that even if we shouldn't play hard to get to, we should at least create the impression that visiting us is a privilege.

Actually, we want both the automobile tourist and the North American equivalent of the free-spendng aristocrat.

In recent times we have been improving accommodation at reasonable rates and making our attractions more accessible by road. But after that hassle on the Social Register, how do we go about acquiring the prestige bait?

Misplaced Idealism?

EVERY SENSIBLE PERSON IS in favor of world peace. But few would carry their favoritism to the point of fisticuffs as did a large group of pacifist demonstrators in England last weekend. The band of idealists entered a secret missile base and tried to halt trucks engaged in construction work. When the workers attempted to carry on, a brief battle ensued, broken up only by the arrival of police reinforcements.

There are many persons in the free world who are increasingly concerned by the development of atomic missiles. They would gladly see the whole idea abandoned and the world return to a position a little further removed from what Sir Winston Churchill once described as the "brink of hell".

But while they would like to see missiles abandoned, they would want the abandonment to be worldwide. This is a point of discrimination which groups such as the English weekend battlers apparently do not appreciate—unless, indeed, they are out-and-out Communist supporters and actually wish Britain to be overcome by Russia.

If all the groups which demonstrate against Western defences could make their influence felt on the other side of the Iron Curtain and thus reduce Russian military preparations more good might result. Unfortunately, when they do their protesting only against OUR defences, it at once raises the question of whether they are really idealists or merely supporters of Russia at the expense of the West.

ARE YOU LISTENING?

By B. A. TOBIN

The Big Broadcast

IT'S a far cry from the Indian scout with his ear held against a bowie knife stuck into the prairie so that he can hear the distant hoofbeats of horses, to the 250-foot steel bowls which man is constructing to pick up signals from outer space. But we've made the jump in little more than a generation. Indeed, it's not so much a jump as a first shuffling step. There are many more steps in prospect which scientists hope will open up a whole new field of astronomy.

We've always wanted to know what was over the crest of the hill, whether it was a herd of buffalo or new information on the depths of space. At first, in his quest for knowledge of the stars, man used his naked eyes. Later he devised glass lenses that would gather light from the heavens and focus it at an eye-piece or on a photographic plate. The lenses increased in size and so did our fund of information.

But there was a limit to what we could pick up in this way. Light rays are distorted by the atmosphere; they can't be indefinitely magnified without losing quality. Their use is limited in distance, even though the largest telescope—the 200-inch at Mount Palomar in California—can see 10 billion light years into space.

But quite by accident, during the war, a new way of observing space was found. Instead of seeing it we can hear it.

It was found that radio waves in a roaring torrent are continually pouring in to us from space—some from as near as the planets and the sun, some from incredible distances that appear only as dark spots in the sky.

Continual Transmission

Apparently each star in the heavens is a radio transmitter of sorts. When a few million or billion stars get together in a galaxy—far enough away so that they appear to us as one solid object—you can imagine that they form a pretty strong station.

That is the sort of signal the scientists have been picking up. You can get some of it on your own radio by turning up the volume in between stations. It sounds like a sizzling, and most of what you receive will be coming from the sun. But with receivers specially designed to act as ears that can be turned to various parts of the sky, much stronger and more distant signals can be picked up.

Britain has led in this branch of radio-astronomy, as it has in so many other branches. At Jodrell Bank, near Manchester, an enormous saucer, 250 feet in diameter, has been trained on the heavens and has amazed the experts with the things it tells them, and the even more exciting things it hints.

The United States has several smaller and is planning larger ones; Russia, too, is in on the new listening-science. Like the biggest light telescopes, which are hardly ever looked through by eyes, the radio telescope are not listened to by human ears. They are connected to machines which convert the incoming radio waves to ink lines on a graph, or even to columns of figures on an electric typewriter.

The experts scan the graphs or the figures and are able to decipher the messages to gain new knowledge about the sources of the waves.

We live in a very noisy cosmos. All space is filled with a complexity of radio waves which create a high level of sound. But there are many sources which far exceed this background level, and come in clear and strong to the mechanisms tuned to pick them up.

Our sun is a variable station. Generally it sends out a steady stream of waves of various kinds. But now and then the storms which occur on its surface, the oceans of incandescent gases which boil out from its face, send off a shower of waves which interfere with our radio and telegraph reception on earth and make loud crackling sounds in our radio sets.

These onsets are pretty powerful, but appear as infinitesimal in comparison with a few other big senders.

One of the most potent signals comes from the nebula known as the Crab, because of its shape. This was a star that blew up about a thousand years ago—Chinese astronomers saw it happen—and ever since has poured out a very heavy stream of radiation from the swirling gases that mark the area of the explosion.

Biggest of All

But even such wave onslaughts as this are insignificant compared with a source that has been discovered in the region of the constellation Cygnus. A powerful radio station on our earth might broadcast one megawatt. This source in space lets loose with megawatts of power that must be written as a one followed by thirty zeros.

In the largest telescopes, the source of this radiation appears as a mere smudge of pale light because of its distance from us. But it has been determined that that smudge is the collision of two galaxies of stars—one of the rarest and most stupendous phenomena the universe can produce.

Each galaxy is a cloud of millions of stars. The two galaxies are passing through each other, like two swarms of bees that want to fly through the same spot at the same time. Yet so vast are the distances between the individual stars in a galaxy—and our own galaxy, the Milky Way, is a good example—that it is very unlikely that any individual star will actually bump another in passing.

What does produce the tremendous burst of radioactivity is the mingling of the rarified gases which "fill" the galaxies. From the streaming of these uncountable particles of gas is produced, in some way not yet clear, the most gigantic outpouring of wave energy man has yet detected in his universe.

It may seem remote and out of our lives. But knowledge of such happenings has a direct bearing on our welfare. We must know much more if we are ever to master the space around us, or even the tiny solid particle on which we live.

Bus Fares

If there is one thing more than another that has been brought out in Mr. Briggs' statements it is the readiness of the Public Utilities Commission to grant B.C. Electric requests.

The recent fare increase is a case in point. I was in Vancouver twice during the last six months, in July and September. On a bus there one can travel as far as from here to Sidney on a fare that was then 13 cents—with slack time four tickets for 45 cents—only three cents more than Victoria.

Now the fare there is 15 cents, only two cents more, and if there are any zones I did not find them. The crowds were about the same as here.

It would take all the buses in Victoria to cover two of the routes in Vancouver.

Why should Victoria be given such treatment? I hope the people in Victoria will remember this and will speak their minds at all civic and provincial elections.

Immaturity

I have just finished reading Humphry Davy's very disappointing article in Monday night's Times.

I feel very strongly that racial prejudice is due to an immature mind. Being a teen-ager myself, I feel that many so-called adults are very immature.

In the school classrooms races are intermixed and there is never any racial discrimination. I myself feel that one can learn a great deal from persons of the different races which we study about.

The human race will never be one, so why can't people wake up and face it.

When the U.S.S. Bennington was here I met a boy from New-Orleans. I asked him, "if it wasn't the custom to dislike the Negroes, and if he wouldn't get into trouble by talking with them, would he do so?"

He said Yes. Most of teen-agers have nothing against the Negroes. It's just

'The Boys Demand an Answer'

As of late your paper has been printing columns on the honesty and integrity of our politicians and men in high business positions. May I be spared a few lines to expose falsehoods and injustice that have shocked the men of the armed services in and around Victoria?

A few years ago it was decided to start an Armed Services Centre here in Victoria as a home away from home for the young men of the three services. This was never meant to be a business endeavor, but to be a house of fellowship sponsored by Victoria's businessmen.

The choice of who was capable to run such a place was most difficult but the committee decided upon Mrs. Lynda Murphy. This proved to be an excellent choice. "Mom", as Mrs. Murphy has been known by thousands of young men, has more than fulfilled her obligation.

Young men have cried on "Mom's" shoulder when the despairing news of passing of loved ones has come. When they were homesick or had made a service-mistake and have been frightened, she has played the part of counsellor, friend, policeman, taxi driver, yes, and even cook for her boys. Even the mayor and other politicians have raised her ire and felt her scorn when a principle of her boys was encroached upon.

Hours have meant nothing to Mrs. Lynda "Mom" Murphy, she has and has earned the respect of officers and men of the services and all others who custom handed down from their parents.

If you went to the schools and asked the teen-agers how they feel, I'm sure they would agree. We are not all bad.

Humiliation

Seldom have the citizens of any Canadian province been so humiliated as we are of British Columbia at this time.

Humiliation due to the smog, the smell of our economic and political situation, will definitely affect the moral and ethical outlook, the hope and aspirations of a large-a disheartening-number of our younger citizens.

Man is inseparably a product of his environment and when the moral tone of that environment sinks to the level now being exposed by those most responsible for maintaining high levels of conduct there is little hope for that improvement in our ethical standards which has for long been too evidently needed.

We deplore delinquency and contrive an environment that is certain to facilitate this cancerous growth.

Alberta Pledge

Only two or three years ago Mr. E. C. Manning (Social Credit Premier of Alberta) gave the people of his province his most positive assurance that while he remained in office as premier the liquor laws would stay, as then, unchanged, and Mr. Manning "was an honorable man".

I am very happy to read that Albertans may now pour a libation more freely than heretofore and thus I can only conclude that, like our own inimitable premier, Mr. Bennett, Mr. Manning is sometimes, and most conveniently, forgetful of his more rash utterances to an almost equally forgetful electorate.

Open or Controlled?

Then a well-known business man was appointed president of the directors and it has proved that a very small man took over a big, responsible position. By all appearances this man has let self-will run riot and nothing has gone right since.

He first placed a friend of his in the Centre as manager. Then out of a clear sky "Mom" Murphy is phoned and told not to come in anymore. No reason, at least a truthful one, has or can be given for this dastardly move.

One reason could be that the manager promptly raised his wages. Many dubious stories have been and are still being told. Such as: Mrs. Murphy had an accident; Mrs. Murphy quit; Mrs. Murphy was tired; Mrs. Murphy resigned, etc.

Boys, Mrs. Murphy was fired! After being fired Mrs. Murphy was requested to sign a resignation which she refused to do. After much haranguing with the president she got a letter of recommendation from him in which he states, and I quote, "We very much regret her leaving the Centre."

What kind of honesty is this? Why do such honorable, honest men that are on the board of directors, such as Admiral Hibbard, RCN (R), Mr. Harold Husband, Mr. Elworthy, Mr. Manning, Mr. Robinson, etc., stand for this, or is it they do not know the truth?

The boys demand an answer.

Escapism

"It's time for your rest, Mother," said Emily.

Mrs. Carstairs made a little face. "I don't feel like resting in the least. Such a lot of things I want to do. Letters and cards and my list of presents. With Christmas coming, they must be done, dear."

Emily was adamant. "You know what the doctor said. At least an hour every day after lunch. A little sleep and a chance to rest your feet."

But Mrs. Carstairs didn't really sleep. Instead, she snuggled beneath the eiderdown, and let her thoughts wander lazily.

Escapism, (she thought). Somehow, in recent years, it's become an almost dirty word. And yet, for most of us, a certain measure of escape is necessary. It's what keeps us sane.

G. B. Stern, (she continued). Somewhere in G. B. Stern's "Another Part of the Forest" there's a bit about escapism.

For a moment she thought of going downstairs to find the book. But Emily would hear her going down, she realized, and she didn't want to be told again about the doctor and "at least an hour every day after lunch."

The G. B. Stern quotation, she recalled, was about escapism being good for us, provided that we didn't take a one-way ticket. For permanent escape was disastrous. It must only be taken in little snatches.

The methods of escape from the responsibilities and realities of life, Mrs. Carstairs mused. Some find it in formal religion and in the quiet contemplation of eternity. That's how Maria used to achieve serenity and acquire additional strength.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Seeking Longer Life

LONDON — Somerset Maugham is in town for the publication of his latest book, Points of View, a collection of essays. He says that this is his final book. He has reached an age when he has written himself out.

And discussing his age he said, with a typical Maugham twist: "When they gave me a dinner on my 80th birthday somebody showed me a table of life expectancy. For a man of 80 it was 84 years nine months. That is precisely my age now."

But the life expectancy tables don't worry him. He is booked up for a sea voyage to Japan next year, the first of a series of trips that will form a sort of extended farewell to the world. He is quite convinced that despite his advanced years he'll be well able to undertake the lengthy world tour—thanks to Niehans.

Maugham has been taking treatment from Dr. Paul Niehans, the 76-year-old Swiss exponent of cellular therapy. Cellular therapy? It's part of the search for a longer life, trying to solve the mystery of the ageing of the body's tissues and cells.

Dr. Niehans' technique consists of injecting into the human young living cells from animals and many others of the world's most famous peoples besides Maugham have sought his aid. Among them Furtwangler, the conductor; Gloria Swanson; the Duchess of Windsor. Most spectacular of Niehans' achievements—the prolonging of the life of Pope Pius XII from 1954 onwards.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

Ideas for Festive Season

Far from discarding thoughts of his garden at the approach of the Christmas season, the home gardener will endeavor to plan how he may utilize his hobby to include it in his festive preparations.

Granted that much will depend on previous planning, about the first things he, or in this case his wife, will use are carrots and potatoes to improve the flavor and quality of the Christmas puddings.

With these safely stored away, he might well spend an evening of collaboration with said wife in allotting suitable gifts to those new gardening friends he has made during the year.

A choice plant or two of Christmas-rose (Helleborus niger), carefully dug and suitably wrapped, would be well received by the folks who have already admired them growing in the garden.

A root of rhubarb packed into a huge carton can give a lot of fun and enjoyment to the new neighbor who was pleased to receive fresh stalks over the fence last May.

DON'T BE SHY

There is no surer way to convince a wavering would-be gardener than to present him with token jars of pickles, jars

With Robert, it was drinking. Those bouts of his were sheer escape. When he'd drunk enough, care and responsibility and tension fell away. But that was only in the early years. Oh Lord, is there anything more fragile than to watch the gradual disintegration of an unhappy drinker?

For George, it was music, always.

For Helen, it was the solitude of her yearly sojourn at the Lake. Just padding round in her canoe, and painting. What was the phrase she always used? "Recharging her batteries." I think it was.

Lydia, though she'd never admit it, used good works as her method of escape. She didn't do them from the kindness of her heart, but as an escape from boredom and that disastrous marriage.

For Richard, it was the peace and quiet of unspoiled woods, and getting away from people.

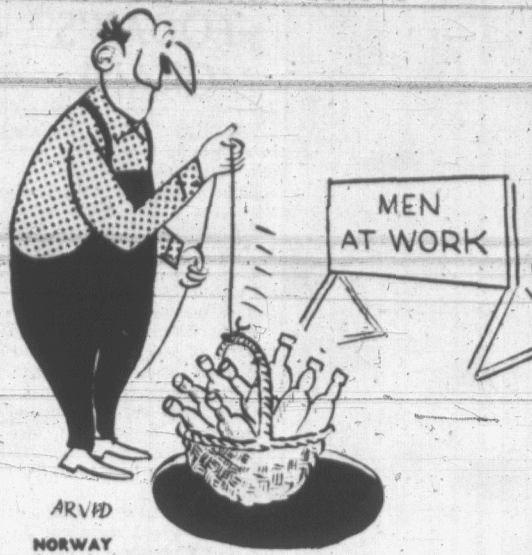

Edward hated the woods. For him, it was sailing. He once said that he only felt free when he was sailing. Especially when he was sailing out of sight of land.

Myrtle found her release among the mountains. She once told me that to walk along the ridges, high above the timber line, and to contemplate the peak brought her a renewal of the spirit.

"I don't know," she murmured drowsily. "I suppose it's what raises us above the beasts. All mixed up with cosmic loneliness, truth and beauty, and the eternal search for happiness. Mankind longing for the moon. The way things are going, he'll get there, too. A fat lot of good it'll do him. He'll find it isn't what he wanted after all!"

And Emily, peeping in through the half-open door, saw that her mother was almost asleep.

John D. Greeted By Insect Spray

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand (CP)—A burst of insect spray greeted Prime Minister Diefenbaker on his arrival today for a six-day New Zealand visit.

While two cabinet ministers waited outside the plane at Harewood Airport, and the Canadian leader waited inside, a health officer boarded the plane, closed the door and sprayed the aircraft through-out with insect killer designed for malaria-carrying mosquitoes.

The Canadian party had come from Australia and the official said he realized the plane was sprayed six days ago when it arrived there from Asia.

"It's rather fantastic but it's a local regulation," he said apologetically.

FORMAL GREETING
Outside the plane a more formal welcome was given Diefenbaker by the government and an army guard of honor. He was greeted by Minister of Maori Affairs E. T. Tirikatene and Social Security Minister Mabel Howard.

In a recorded radio and television statement Diefenbaker said he was happy to be back in a country which had been a campaign partner in two world wars and the Korean War. He was here seven years ago for a Commonwealth parliamentary conference.

The Canadian premier was to attend a civic reception to night in this city—largest in New Zealand's South Island—and Tuesday flights to Dunedin and then to Wellington.

Swiss Cruise Ship Seized; $1M in Debts

ST. GEORGE, Bermuda (AP)—The liner Arosa Star was seized by police here Sunday and 183 bewildered cruise passengers including Canadians taken off.

Writs attaching the 7,114-ton liner and her cargo for more than $1,000,000 in debts were posted on the foremast within minutes after the vessel docked here.

The Swiss-owned ship, flying the Panama flag, turned into Bermuda instead of going directly to New York—apparently in a move to escape creditors awaiting her return from a 15-day Caribbean cruise.

The passengers were told they would be flown the rest of the way home in chartered planes as soon as possible.

HAD TO POST BOND

The liner sailed from New York on Nov. 21 for a cruise to Caribbean ports, with a financial cloud hanging overhead. She was allowed to set out only after posting a $40,000 bond.

Writs served by the police here listed among big creditors Esso Standard Oil of Switzerland $918,000 for fuel and other supplies and Caltex of Switzerland $364,054.

Agents for Wall Street Tours, which chartered the ship for the cruise, assured passengers they would be flown to New York as soon as possible.

$1 Million A Week Boner

Mine Union Losing Battle With INCO

By JOHN LEBLANC
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)
SUDBURY, Ont. (CP)—Did the mine-mill union make a multimillion dollar bone-head play in its rickel strike in this area?

A lot of knowledgeable people here will tell you that this is exactly what was done by the Red-led International Union Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers in its $1,000,000-a-week walkout.

On a tour of the locality, this reporter has heard many people describe the calling of the strike as "dumb" or "stupid."

The reason is that the employer—International Nickel Company—holds the high cards in this big-stake poker game.

Right now INCO looks like the winner—with nothing much to lose while the losers could be the 13,500 men on strike against INCO's diggings and smelters. And their families.

NOT A HOOT

Here's the setup briefly:

With INCO loaded with a big stockpile of base metals in a poor world market, the union demanded a better money deal and then struck about 2½ months ago when the company said no.

So far as can be learned here, INCO doesn't give a hoot economically. It's better off than it was before, as far as payroll is concerned.

Meanwhile, the big company is working off a huge stockpile of base metals which it has to sell on the world market. The market is not too good. It might take INCO until mid-February to get rid of what it has piled up.

This accounts in some part for the company being able to tell the union, when it got tough, to go take a jump in nearby Ramsay Lake.

There is some thinking here that bright negotiators at INCO jockeyed the union into striking. Noody talks on this for publication.

POOR TIMING

But certainly the strike appears to have been called at a poor time, with miserable weather closing in on this northern community and now with Christmas coming on.

Fortright Mayor Joe Fabro of Sudbury was asked this: "Did Mine-Mill make a mistake in calling the strike?"

His reply:

"The economy of the industry was well known to all concerned, and the present status of this strike action would appear to justify the warnings that were given by the company and others that the union would have to be realistic in its negotiations for a settlement."

UNION BEAR-TRAPPED

Another civic leader, not wanting to be quoted, said "I think the union got itself bear-trapped by the company. They just weren't smart enough."

A business executive said: "Right now is the wrong period in history for a strike."

LIKE PING PONG

Both sides get a clobbering from Irish Rev. J. J. Delaney, who heads the Roman Catholic charity emergency setup on the strike scene.

"All consideration for human beings has been cast aside," he says.

"This has become a knock-down, drag-out battle and the average man with his despairing wife and his hungry children is the ammunition."

"Both sides," adds Father Delaney, "are hurling the little man back and forth like a ping pong ball."

"Both sides are shedding crocodile tears at his plight, and both sides stand back and let the church feed him and his family."

J. Randall Heads Defence Workers For Fourth Term

James Randall was elected president for his fourth term at a meeting of the Victoria branch of the National Defence Employees' Association last week.

Tom Dalzell was re-elected vice-president, Fred Slydell corresponding secretary and Joyce Jones organizing secretary.

New members of the executive are J. Forbes, second vice-president, R. Wilkie, third vice-president, and Mrs. Ann Miller, treasurer.

Civil service representatives are T. Hart, J. Stokes, J. Miliken and A. Edmonds. Prevailing rate representatives are D. Florin, R. Morgan, C. Perrin and L. F. Hamilton.

The branch heard an address by national president Jim Wyllie, currently on an organization tour of western Canada for the 25,000-member organization. He was accompanied by national secretary-treasurer Ken Green.

Prizes Given To Young Goat Breeders

Top honors were awarded John Howe, 18, of West Saanich, at the annual prize-giving banquet of the Saanich 4-H Goat Club held at the Saanich Agricultural Hall Saturday.

John, who is junior leader of the club, won the Ellison Milling Co. trophy for the highest points in the milk goat class.

The meeting, attended by more than 60 boys and girls, parents and agricultural officials, marked the end of a year's activity for the club, the only 4-H club of its kind in western Canada.

Guest of honor was Miss Echo Lidster, supervisor of B.C. 4-H clubs.

Other major prize winners were: Rose Couling, 15, of Sooke, Scott & Peden trophy for the highest points in the yearling class; and Rose Smart, 14, of 3965 Glenford Avenue, Victoria, Mooncrest trophy for the highest points in the kid goat class.

Mary Couling, 12, of Sooke, and Mary Lord, 12, of Deep Cove, shared the Maule trophy, awarded to the junior member with the highest points during the year. They tied for the award.

Rose Smart and Rose Couling also tied for the Rose showmanship trophy.

Paul Howe won the T. Eaton cup for good citizenship.

Book prizes awarded by the Island branch of the B.C. Goat Breeders' Association, for efficiency in goat "management" reports went to Rose Couling and Peter Dieter Hartman-shenn.

Holiday Switch For City Staff?

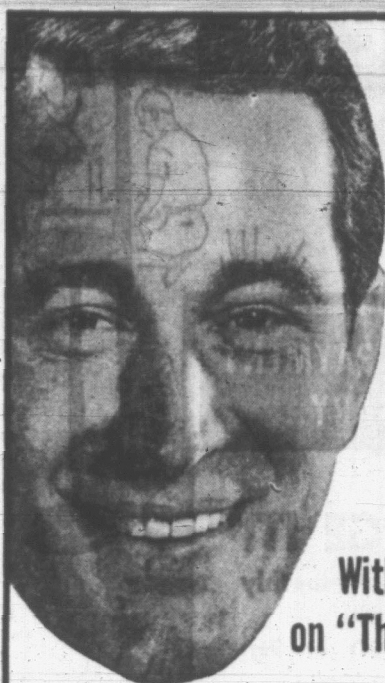

Greater Victoria civic employees probably will be given Jan. 2 off in exchange for working two half-days on Christmas and New Year's Eves.

Intermunicipal committee Friday recommended that the four council's allow employees to work the full days Dec. 24 and Dec. 31 instead of quitting at noon. In return they would have Jan. 2, a Friday, off.

Baby-Sitter Saves Three

Sixteen-year-old baby-sitter Audrey MacDonald, 4696 West Saanich, rushed three young children from their home when flames burst into the living room at 7:45 p.m. Saturday. The sitter also called firemen in time to prevent serious damage being done by the blaze at 2733 Shelbourne, which broke out from a fireplace closed up with fibreboard. House occupants, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stevens, left their children with the 16-year-old girl to go to a dance.

In the past 35 years the circulation of Canadian daily newspapers has increased 134 per cent.

World Starvation Worst Problem; United Nations 'Magic' Dangerous

A gloomy picture of the world's future—if it has any future at all—was sketched here Saturday by Dr. Brock Chisholm, former director of the World Health Organization.

Speaking at the annual luncheon of the Professional Engineers Association of B.C. in the Empress Hotel, Dr. Chisholm hammered at the theme that atomic and biological warfare were bad enough, but projected world starvation was worse still.

"Warfare is no longer warfare, it is suicide," was his opening shot.

"Not five per cent of the whole human race would survive another world war, and we are in acute danger of one."

NO MAGIC

Dr. Chisholm said one of the current dangers is "magic thinking" about the United Nations—the thought that UN has some magical property which can protect the "free world."

"The UN is an instrument to be used by all the peoples of the world," he said. The misconception of the UN is that it is a magic thing which will leave the rest of us to go home and decide what colored car to buy.

He said the governments of the world are archaic, even obsolete.

ALL OBSOLETE

"There is not a national constitution in the world designed to get along under present conditions.

"There is not business, political, economic, or food distribution system today which is not obsolete."

He said we are still basing our ideas on those of our ancestors, who "knew nothing of the world in which we, today, precariously and perhaps temporarily, survive.

"We will have to find out for ourselves through that painful process, called thinking."

Dr. Chisholm decried the theory "mother knows best." "A common illusion is that mother and father, through the process of giving birth to a child, know all the answers." The greatest problem facing the modern world, he said, is capacity to distribute food is not matching population increase.

Two-thirds of the world's people are suffering from lack of food.

"These starving peoples are not content to sit down at meetings with well fed people, to plan things for eight or 10 years from now. They are impatient people.

"Improper distribution of food is the greatest of all the great dangers facing the modern world."

U.K. Rejects Immigration 'Color Bar'

LONDON (Reuters) — The government has rejected an independent motion in the House of Commons urging a series of restrictions on the entry of people from the Commonwealth. The restrictions were aimed at colored races.

Supporters of the motion argued Britain's native white population eventually would be engulfed by a flood of colored immigrants seeking a more prosperous life.

The motion was talked out.

'Policemen' Deny Blocking Traffic

Complaints that members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce tied up downtown traffic Saturday afternoon were denied today by president Ray Rawnsley.

"If it was anything serious," he said, "we would have heard about it long before this."

Dressed as comic policemen, a group of Jaycees invaded downtown streets and handed out mock parking tickets to shoppers and traffic policemen alike.

Tickets invited recipients to park themselves in a polling booth Dec. 11 and were part of the Jaycee sponsored "Get Out and Vote" campaign.

At one point, it was reported, they snarled up traffic a block from police headquarters and then went through the stalled cars handing out tickets to annoyed motorists.

Chief Leads Leafs

Habs, Toronto Double Winners In Weekend Play

By The Canadian Press
The Big Chief is back and Toronto Maple Leafs are on the National Hockey League warpath.

The chief is Captain George Armstrong who returned to action Saturday after an injury had benched him for a month. And Armstrong sparked last-place Toronto to their most successful weekend since the season began.

Saturday they whipped Boston Bruins 4-1 as the big 204-pound Indian got two goals and Sunday they shut out New York Rangers 2-0 with Armstrong assisting on the crucial second goal.

RANGERS LOSE 6-0
Saturday in Montreal the Rangers ran into the Canadiens and came out on the short end of a 6-0 score.

Canadiens stretched their first-place lead over Detroit Red Wings to four points Sunday as they defeated Bruins 4-1 in Boston. Detroit edged fifth-place Chicago Black Hawks 4-3 Saturday in Chicago and tied the Hawks 2-2 in Detroit Sunday.

Duff and Ron Stewart scored Toronto goals Saturday in addition to the two by Armstrong. Don McKenney got Boston's only counter.

Sunday in New York Toronto's Johnny Bower stopped 28 Ranger shots for his second shutout of the season.

Billy Harris gave the Leafs a first-period lead and Dick Duff got the second goal after Armstrong broke up a third-period Ranger attack and passed the puck out to Duff at centre.

NEW LINE
In Montreal Saturday, the heroes were Bernie Geoffrion and two rookies—Ralph Backstrom and Alvin McDonald.

The newly formed line got four goals, with McDonald scoring twice and Backstrom and Geoffrion once each. Maurice Richard got his 12th of the season and Marcel Bonin added the other.

Oddity of the game was an assist given to Montreal netminder Jacques Plante, the first NHL netminder to get one since Detroit's Terry Sawchuk did it in the 1954-55 season.

On Sunday, Geoffrion, McDonald, Jean Guy Talbot and Henri Richard rounded out the Montreal scoring. Left winger Vic Stasiuk scored Boston's goal at 9:51 of the second, his 100th in NHL play.

DEFENCEMEN SCORE
In Chicago all Detroit's goals Saturday were scored by defencemen—two by Red Kelly and two by partner Warren Godfrey. Lone Chicago goal came from rearguard Dollard St. Laurent and centre Ken Wharram got the other two.

Sunday, in Detroit, Hawks had a 2-1 victory until 19:50 of the third period, when Alex Delvecchio gave Red Wings the tie.

Centre Eddie Litzenberger and Lorne Ferguson scored for Chicago before Norm Ullman put Detroit in the game.

England's Cricketers Overhaul Australians

BRISBANE, Australia (Reuters)—England batted its way into a 40-run lead over Australia at the end of the third day of play today in their five-day test cricket match.

Australia lost its last four first-inning wickets for only 30 runs and England came to bat for the second time trailing the Aussies by 52 runs. The tourists had scored 92 runs for the loss of two wickets at the close.

HOCKEY PLAYER PARALYZED

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP)—Demands for the prosecution of hockey fans caught throwing debris on the ice during games are expected at an arena commission meeting here today.

The commission meets as Jack McMaster of Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen lies gravely ill and paralyzed in hospital here three days after crashing heavily into the boards during a game with the Sudbury Wolves.

One fan seated near the accident area said the 21-year-old forward stepped on a piece of paper thrown on the ice by spectators.

No one yet knows officially what caused the accident, but league officials say no other player touched him.

Sudbury defenceman Pete Pilote said McMaster may have stepped on his stick, but that he wasn't certain.

"Moments earlier, fans had pelted the ice with peanuts and paper to protest a decision by referee Howie Parker.

AFTER ICE MISHAP

Twice during the game sweepers cleared debris from the ice.

Sudbury's arena commission has a meeting later today and a delegation of supporters is expected to attend and insist any fan caught throwing debris on the ice should be prosecuted as well as ejected from the rink.

Said one "Wolves" official: "There's nothing much we can do about that kid in hospital—

VICTORIA MUST WAIT TO LEARN SOCCER FATE

Rain and snow not only washed out all but Victoria and District Football League match Sunday, but it also delayed a decision on Victoria's application for a franchise in the Pacific Coast Soccer League.

Organizers of the proposed Victoria entry in the summer loop, were informed last night that a scheduled meeting of the PCSL executive at Vancouver Sunday had been postponed because of heavy snowfall on the lower mainland.

The meeting to rule on franchise applications from Capilano and Wallace Athletic Club of Vancouver and Victoria has been rescheduled for next Sunday.

Harney Tops Field With Fast Finish

DORADO BEACH, Puerto Rico (AP)—Paul Harney got his putter under control Sunday and won the $30,000 Dorado Beach invitation golf tournament with a 284 after a final round of 68.

Harney of Worcester, Mass., was four strokes off the pace after three rounds over the 7,115-yard semi-jungle layout where par is 36-36-72. The course was made even tougher because of heavy rains, which hit the players again on Sunday.

Defensive Corps Hold Giants' Key

NEW YORK (AP)—Coach Paul Brown, the master manipulator of the Cleveland Browns, is out to find the weapon capable of destroying the New York Giants' defensive bastion.

It's the Giants' defensive unit Brown has to beat next Sunday in New York's Yankee Stadium if Cleveland is to add to its string of eastern conference titles in the National League.

Cleveland defeated Philadelphia 21-14 Sunday, clinching at least a tie for the championship, while the runnerup Giants stayed alive with a 19-17 victory at Detroit.

ONE-GAME LEAD
That leaves the Browns (9-2) with a one-game lead over New York (8-3). A tie or victory in the regular season finale Sunday will give Cleveland the title. The Giants can only hope for a play-off by winning.

The eastern winner meets the Baltimore Colts, western conference champions, for the NFL title Dec. 28 in the eastern entry's park.

Colts dropped a 30-28 decision at Los Angeles Saturday, although Baltimore quarterback Johnny Unitas pitched three touchdown passes and set an NFL record. It was the 24th consecutive game in which Unitas had passed for a TD, breaking the mark set by Green Bay's Cecil Isbell in 1942 with 23.

In Sunday's games, Chicago Bears beat Chicago Cardinals 30-14, San Francisco ripped Green Bay 48-21 and Pittsburgh came off with a 14-14 tie against Washington.

Harland Svare blocked a last-minute, 25-yard field goal attempt to save the Giants' victory after the defending world champion Lions appeared to have the game won.

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Red Wings have recalled centre Gene Achtymichuk from their Edmonton farm club in the Western Hockey League.

WORLD TITLE BOUT WEDNESDAY

Gladiators Ease Off

MONTREAL (CP)—Two professional gladiators, trained to peaks of fighting fitness, are exercising lightly to keep their edge until they clash here Wednesday night for the light-heavyweight boxing championship of the world.

Ring-wise old Archie Moore, the champion, planned to box a few rounds today to keep his weight down.

Yvon Durelle, the challenger from Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., took a walk on Sunday. Manager Chris Shaban planned to work him lightly today.

Both figure on taking it easy on Tuesday. Both have shaken slight colds.

Moore was down to 177 pounds, only two pounds over the limit. One ounce over at the official weigh-in on Wednesday could cost him the title under National Boxing Commission rules, but his manager, Doc Kearns, wasn't worrying.

"He can dry out and come in at weight," said Kearns. "He's in as good shape as I've seen him in a long time. The weight is fine for him."

The craggy-faced Durelle, a good fighting little kid of 29 years and 174½ pounds, is able to take it easy for the next few days because he has no weight problem, Shaban says.

Arrangements have been made for the CBC to broadcast the fight in Canada, with Montreal and Sherbrooke stations blacked out. A U.S. network will carry the fight on American channels. It will not be carried on the CBC's French language TV network and there will be no radio coverage.

Rest Best Cure For Weary Cats

Cougars Entertain Spokane Entry Wednesday Night

Victoria Cougar coach Pat Egan shuffled his players back into the city today, returning from their second road trip of the season, and was looking for two ingredients to boost his Western Hockey League team back on a winning trail.

"Rest and home ice" were the items Egan confidently predicted would bolster his weary warriors.

The Cougars, who Saturday night ended their second swing through the Prairie Division by losing a 6-2 decision to Calgary Stampeders, resume play Wednesday against Spokane Flyers at Memorial Arena. It will be the first visit to Victoria for the WHL's newest entry.

Cougars' game in Calgary Saturday night marked the end of Victoria's most strenuous stretch of league activity. They played nine games in 15 days, including the last three in as many nights.

RAPID SURGE
A rapid-fire four-goal scoring spree in the second period gave Stampeders their victory before 3,349 fans.

Stampeders found the range four times within the space of three minutes and 25 seconds to register their fourth straight victory.

Cougars scored twice in the last period before Stampeders added their last goal.

The Calgary goals were evenly divided among Bruce Lea, Dusty Blair, Eddie Dorohoy, Sid Finney, Chuck Blair and Howie Glover. Glover joined the club Friday from Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League.

Doug Anderson and Al Nicholson were Victoria marksmen. Rookie Don Blackburn received a shoulder separation in the second period when bounced into the boards by Lea.

Immediately after the resumption of play, Jim Hay and Lea tore at each other immediately in front of the players' benches and were banished for five minutes. The two majors, plus two minors in the last 90 seconds of play, were the only penalties called.

Mahovich Sidelined With Injured Knee
TORONTO (UPI)—Frank Mahovich, bright young star of the Toronto Maple Leafs hockey club, will be sidelined for the next two weeks, it was disclosed today.

The hefty winger suffered an injured knee Saturday in the first period of a game against the Boston Bruins when he collided with the Bruins' Fern Flaman.

WINNER'S REWARD
BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Louisiana State Saturday rewarded coach Paul Dietzel with a new $16,500, five-year contract for winning the national football crown and a Sugar Bowl invitation.

AT WORLD TOURNEY

Lubanski, Ladewig Tenpin Pacesetters

CHICAGO (AP)—A 200-average bowler couldn't even make the semifinals as the second annual World's Invitational Tenpin Tournament moved into the final day of qualifying for the match play finals in Chicago Coliseum.

When the 128 men had finished their allotted 24 games in the qualifying round, it was found that a score of 4,840—or 40 pins over a 200 average—was necessary to move into the 12-game semifinal round today.

Eddie Lubanski, 28, of Detroit, won qualifying laurels, finishing with a total of 5,161 pins, a 19-pin bulge over defending champion Don Carter of St. Louis. Dick Hoover of Akron, Ohio, the former all-star and two-time masters' champion, finished with 5,130 for third place.

The women's division was paced by defending champion Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich., who had a total of 3,439 pins, five ahead of Jere Price of Fort Worth, Texas, in the 16-game qualifying trials. Third was national all-star champion Merele Matthews of Long Beach, Calif., with 3,230.

Olympia Entry Tops Totem Hoop Tourney
VANCOUVER (CP)—St. Martin's College Rangers of Olympia, Wash., easily defeated defending champion C-Fun of Vancouver 67-56 Saturday to win the Totem basketball tournament.

In a consolation round, Alberni Athletics downed University of B.C. Thunderbirds 62-60 to take third place.

In the opening round Friday night, St. Martin's defeated Alberni 69-66 and C-Fun dumped UBC 70-58.

Bowling Jinx Still Working At Esquimalt
Esquimalt Bowladrome Sunday retained its jinx on previous winners in the weekly "tournament of champions" fivepin series.

Emile Liska became the eighth winner in eight weeks as he rolled a four-game total of 1,089 to edge Darrell Prezeau by 29 points. Frank Morgan was third with 1,031.

Liska also took the single-game award with his score of 314.

At Capital City Bowling Alleys Saturday, Stan Bell rolled a three-game series of 746 to defeat three other finalists in the weekly "championship bowling" competition.

Cy Waters scored 734 in the final. Harry Smith had 699 and Cec McRae posted a 633 score.

Totems Trip 'Peg Visitors

By The Canadian Press
Leaders of the Prairie and Coast Divisions of the Western Hockey League remained ahead of the challengers after a weekend slate of five games.

Seattle Totems, who Saturday lost 5-1 to New Westminster Royals at New Westminster, avenged themselves with a 7-1 win over Winnipeg Warriors at Seattle in the only game Sunday. Edmonton Flyers won their Saturday game 5-2 against the Quakers in Saskatoon.

Other weekend games saw Winnipeg take a 5-3 decision at Spokane and Calgary Stampeders beat Victoria Cougars 6-2.

HEALTHY LEADS
Edmonton now is five points ahead of the Stamps on the Prairies, and Seattle holds a six-point lead over Vancouver Canucks on the coast.

Jerry Melnyk of Edmonton Flyers scored a hat-trick in leading his club to victory over Saskatoon. But the win carried its price. Both Ed Diachuk and Brian Smith of the Flyers suffered knee injuries in the game.

Lowly New Westminster found the measure of the Coast leaders Saturday, and piled four into the Totem net in the middle period. Max McNab and Gordie Fathway each scored a pair in the Royals' 5-1 win. Their other scorer was Pat Hannigan. Seattle's lone marksman was Gord Sinclair.

BACK IN FORM
Seattle came back into form Sunday, although finding no answer to a first-period goal, Winnipeg's only tally, from Barry Ross. Seattle proceeded to swamp their visitors with four goals in the second period and three more in the final round.

Seattle's scorers were Don Chupka, with two, Guyle Fleider, Van Fonteyne, Gordie Sinclair, Tom McVie and Bill MacFarland.

Saturday, the Warriors' Bill Mosienko scored his 100th

Uhren Keeps Tars Rolling

Fourth Straight Win for Sailors; Twin Bill on Tap Tuesday Night

If Vics hope to halt Navy's dash toward the Commercial Hockey League title, they'll probably have to pay special attention to a fellow by the name of Cliff Uhren at Memorial Arena Tuesday night.

Vics broke a second-place deadlock with Shell Aces when they hung a 6-2 defeat on the Aces Saturday and can move within one point of the unbeaten Sailors with a win Tuesday.

Navy had its hands full with an improving Army squad before breaking out in a four-goal rash in the third period to down the Soldiers, 7-3, and stretch its victory skein to four games.

Uhren, who had sent Navy in front, 3-2, late in the second period, scored two more goals in the final session to wind up with a "hat trick" for the second successive game.

Joe Tanner, Paul LaPointe, Neil Standley and Bob Cook each tallied one goal for the Sailors, who had their troubles with the scrappy Army crew until the third-period outburst. Army, which earned a good share of the play but lacked finish near the net, got two goals from Ashworth and one from Larsen.

ALERT PERFORMANCE
In the opening game, Vics turned in their most alert performance of the season, taking advantage of almost every opportunity to break their deadlock with Aces.

Toby Wilson and Art Green each rapped in two goals for Vics and Keith Lawrence and Don Paulin added single tallies. Bob Jones and Sjoberg counted for Aces.

Jones and teammate Arnold Elliott were both forced out of action by injuries in the first period.

WILL CHAMPION QUIT GRAND PRIX RACING?

MODENA, Italy (AP)—World auto racing champion Mike Hawthorn of England will race again in the 1959 season for the crack Italian Ferrari team, a source close to Ferrari said Sunday night.

The informant, who asked not to be identified, said a report from London that Hawthorn was quitting grand prix racing appeared to be without foundation.

In London, Hawthorn could not be reached for comment after newspapers announced he had decided to quit racing.

Two other drivers on the Ferrari team—Peter Collins and Luigi Musso—both close friends of the 29-year-old Hawthorn, were killed in races this season.

SNOW HOLDS UP B.C. BOOT FINAL

Victoria High School athletes will have to pay attention to mid-term examinations before getting their chance at the provincial high school senior soccer crown.

Saturday's scheduled match for the title, against King Edward High at Vancouver, was postponed because of snow and will be played in January.

Victoria's weather conditions kept local minor soccer teams idle over the weekend, causing postponement of all Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Soccer Association matches.

Reds Take Firmer Grip On Top Spot

Oak Bay Wanderers' Reds consolidated their grip on first place in the Victoria Rugby Union's first division Sunday by tacking an 8-3 defeat on Oak Bay Wanderers' Whites at Windsor Park.

In a contest that resembled a mud bath more than a rugby match, Reds took a 5-0 half-time lead on Stu Wright's try and a conversion by George Richardson.

Richardson booted a penalty goal in the final half to match a try by Whites' Don Burgess. Shawigan Lake Boys' School broke even in a pair of exhibition tussles Saturday.

Shawigan's "A" club was trounced, 11-0, by HMCS Venture, but the "B" squad wallowed Oak Bay Wanderers' juniors, 35-0.

Room for One More Rink

Tony Gutoski appears destined to continue on the trail of another British Columbia curling title, but it's anybody's guess who will skip the second Victoria Curling Club rink in the Vancouver Island Consols zone final.

Gutoski, piloting the same rink that reached the Canadian playdowns last March, Saturday night chalked up his third straight victory in the seven-rink playoff being staged to decide two quartets to represent the Victoria club in the Island final.

Gutoski downed Wally

Stubbs in Saturday's first draw and bested Elmer Hoffman in the late draw.

Gar Taylor, who lost a 13-ender to Hoffman, squeezed by Wes Young's navy rink on the late draw to take second place with a 2-1 record.

Hoffman and Bob McIntosh, who bested Wally Stubbs after losing a 12-9 decision to Larry Marshall in the first draw, are deadlocked behind Taylor, each with two wins and two losses.

Young and Marshall each have one victory in three games and Stubbs has one win and three defeats in the round-robin series, which resumes next Saturday.

In the women's playdowns, Flora Martin completed the eight-rink round-robin series with a perfect record to nail down the Victoria berth in the Island zone final.

Mrs. Martin downed rinks skipped by Marg Sturrock and Jean Perlette, Saturday, to make it seven wins without a defeat.

If Victoria is awarded a second berth in the women's zone playoff, it will probably be taken by either Mrs. R. Jackson or Mrs. Sturrock.

New Rulers Crowned In Badminton Windup

A complete new slate of champions was named Saturday at the Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club annual championships.

After defeating defending titlist Harvey Hurd in the men's open singles semi-final round, Mel Chapman was accorded the favorite's role until he ran into co-finalist Bob Hunt.

Hunt took charge to hammer out a 15-7, 17-16 win to

Grid Brass Must Decide Future of Shrine Game

HAMILTON (CP) — The West beat the East 9-3 in the annual All-Star Shrine football game here Saturday, but the scoreboard told only part of the story. Weather conditions for this end-of-the-season spectacle were atrocious, just as they've been since its inception four years ago.

The field resembled a strip of concrete, a bone-rattling 35-mile-an-hour northeast wind slashed across the stadium and the temperature was well below the freezing point. Any semblance to football was incidental.

ILL-FATED CLASSIC

The classic, held each year in early December, has been ill-fated from the start.

In 1955 at Toronto, players sloshed through mud and rain to a 6-6 tie. In 1956 at Vancouver, the West won 35-0 in rain, mud and fog and a plane carrying players home crashed, killing five Western players, four of the All-Stars. In 1957 at Montreal, the East took the honors 20-2 on a field that was a combination of mud, water and ice.

A crowd of about 5,000 watched Saturday's game. Another estimated 10,000 bought tickets but stayed close to the fireside. The proceeds, minus $350 to each player on the winning team and $250 to each of the losing team's personnel, are turned over to the Shriners to aid their crippled children's hospitals in Montreal and Winnipeg.

The final count in dollars and cents may not be known for days and the most pressing problem now concerns the future of the game. Team executives from Montreal to Vancouver, who supply the All-Star players, feel they must either decide on an earlier date or abandon the classic.

SEEK WARMER DATE

The subject was kicked around in informal post-game conversation and the consensus was that the game should be played in mid-July, before the start of the regular schedules.

Club executives have previously shied clear of this early-season date because of the possibility of injury to key players, but may now be ready to approve a summer date.

Almost forgotten in Saturday's game post-mortem was the fact that the result gave the West a clean sweep of Canadian football honors this year—the Grey Cup, junior and intermediate championships—just as in 1956 when the West took all the honors, capped by the All-Star triumph at Vancouver.

That year, Frank Tripucka, of Saskatchewan Roughriders, tossed four touchdown passes. Saturday, he figured in the game's only touchdown pass—a second-quarter nine-yard toss to Kenny Ploen, of the Grey Cup champion Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

That ended the scoring except for three second-half singles by Vic Chapman, of British Columbia Lions.

The Eastern All-Stars scored only one legitimate point, and that came in the opening 15 minutes when Cam Fraser, of Hamilton, kicked a single. Their other two points, scored a few minutes earlier, were a gift, when Jackie Parker, of Edmonton Eskimos, conceded a safety touch from the 11-yard line.

ONE-GOAL DECISIONS

Peewee Pucksters Have Close Shaves

The players still don't own razors, but all the winners had close shaves at Memorial Arena in Saturday's games in the peewee division of the Greater Victoria Minor Hockey Association.

Senators, Royals and Ma-rooms all scraped through to one-goal victories.

Gary Day was the hero for first-place Royals, scoring four goals to spearhead a 5-4 triumph over Bombers. Colin Trigwell fired the other Royal goal, and Don Buckner with two, Brad Mann and Gary Howard counted goals for the Bombers.

Frank Alexander's tally gave Senators a 1-0 decision over Flyers.

Maroons edged Capitals, 4-3, on goals by Dennis Ferrel, Richard Allan, Nick Ortin and Terry Moist. Scoring for Capitals were Ed Carley with two goals and Bill James.

'MAGIC WORD' BRINGS KITTY DOWN FROM TREE

PORTLAND (AP) — The fire department said it was sorry, but it just couldn't come to rescue a cat marooned four days 25 feet up a fir tree.

So after making the call Saturday, Mrs. Donald Niles did a little checking on the cat, which belonged to a neighbor.

Sunday she called the firemen again, and this time, said the magic words.

Out came a fire truck, fireman Bill Heisler climbed up the ladder, picked the cat from a limb and then commented: "We don't do this for any old cat, just pregnant cats."

'Chain Reaction' If Bylaw Passes

Mayor Percy Scurrah said today the proposed View Street parking garage will form the main cog of the 20-year downtown improvement program.

He urged ratepayers to approve the $1,000,000 money by-law to launch the program when they vote Dec. 11.

"The money will be an investment, not just an expenditure for one building," he said.

The View Street parking garage will produce an estimated $30,000 annual profit. He emphasized the estimate drawn up by City Manager C. C. Wyatt was on the conservative side because revenue from possible night parking was not included.

PAY FOR MORE

"This profit will pay for the succeeding projects of the whole program, besides providing greater convenience to the downtown shoppers and shop owners," he said.

"The parking money bylaw is for more than just parking. It is a means of revitalizing the downtown area and to beautify it."

The development of the malls will add a great deal to the appearance and beauty of the city which is renowned on this continent."

As revenue from the View Street garage builds up, it will be used to finance other off-street parking projects included in the first phase of the program.

PYRAMIDING

These in turn will provide more revenue in a pyramiding structure.

The initial capital launching "this chain reaction" of developments will be paid off by increased street parking meter rates so that no tax money will be involved, the mayor said.

One of the first addition developments that would be paid for by the View Street garage revenue is a 115-car surface parking lot on the site of the present main firehall.

"Your voting 'yes' to the money bylaw will make it possible for the city to take the first step in the completion of this entire and very important program," he said.

Although taxes will not be affected by the borrowing, the money bylaw had to be submitted to ratepayers to conform with requirement of the Municipal Act.

Flagship Launched

GENOA, Italy (AP) — The Leonardo da Vinci, which will replace the sunken Andrea Doria as flagship of the Italian merchant marine, slid gracefully into the sea Saturday. The 32,000-ton passenger liner was launched at Sestri Ponente Ansaldo shipyards here.

Menzies Picks Aussie Cabinet

CANBERRA, Australia (Reuters) — Prime Minister Robert Menzies today announced his new cabinet following the victory by the Liberal-Country party in last month's general election.

The only big change is the appointment of Harold Holt, Liberal party deputy leader, as treasurer succeeding Sir Arthur Fadden, who retired before the elections.

Holt formerly was minister of labor and national service. There are five new ministers.

They are: Sir Garfield Barwick, who becomes attorney-general in place of Senator Neil O'Sullivan, who retired from the cabinet although he still is in the Senate; Charles Adermann, minister for primary industry succeeding William McMahon; Alan Hulme, minister of supply in succession to Athol Townley;

Gordon Freeth, minister of the interior and works succeeding Allen Fairhall, and Senator John Gorton, minister for the navy, succeeding Charles Davidson.

There are two promotions. Townley, former minister of supply, becomes defence minister in place of Sir Philip McBride, who has retired from Parliament. McMahon, former minister for primary industry, becomes minister of labor and national service in place of Holt.

Halifax Blast Recalled

HALIFAX (CP) — Forty-one years ago Saturday the relief ship Imo and the French munitions ship Mont Blanc collided in Halifax harbor causing an explosion that wrecked the city's north end, killing 1,645 citizens and injuring 6,000 others.

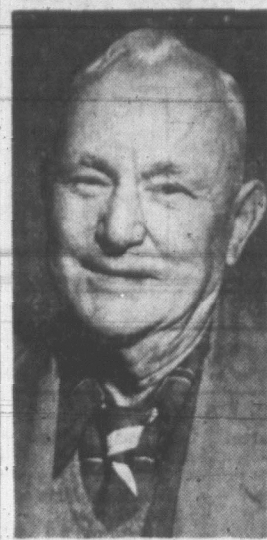

The disastrous Halifax explosion on that calm Dec. 6 morning in 1917 is relived each year at this time.

City police inspector John A. Kinsman was 17 at the time. "When I look at the harbor again, I can recall how... the tremendous concussion parted the water as though it were cut with a knife," he recalled today.

CCF Asks Bonus Extension

Health Minister Eric Martin has been asked to extend Christmas welfare bonus payments to employable persons out of work as well as the "unemployable."

In a letter to Mr. Martin, Opposition Leader Robert Strachan said the Christmas bonus of $5 to a family and $2 to a single person is normally provided annually to all persons in receipt of social allowance.

It was distressing, he said, to read that the government was "planning to discriminate against unemployed employables by refusing to grant them a Christmas bonus to supplement their meagre social allowance."

OTTAWA HELPS

This was "in spite of the fact that the federal government now is paying 50 per cent of all social allowances granted in the province on the condition that no discrimination is made between unemployable and unemployed employable persons."

"I find it impossible to fathom the thinking behind such a decision and I appeal to you to rescind what appears to be a policy more in keeping with the days of Charles Dickens than 1958," Mr. Strachan wrote.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy...

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Ted Best, aged 14, of Victoria, B.C., for his question:

TED BEST ... he likes science

ASK ANDY WINNER:

'I Like To Know How, Why'

An engrossing interest in science and the "Ask Andy" column on science for young people has won a set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia for Ted Best, 14, of 3131 Qu'Appelle Street.

His question, "What Is a Neutron?" is answered in the column on this page today.

"We were talking about this in science, and I thought it might be the kind of question 'Andy' would answer," he said.

CAREER IN PHYSICS

It wasn't asked merely as an attempt to win a prize. Ted is planning to attend university, and already has decided on a career in physics.

"I like to know why things happen, and not just how they happen," he said.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. James Best, and the second of three children, he is in grade 9 at Colquitz Junior High School.

Despite Ted's interest in science, he is interested in sports, playing volleyball, basketball, soccer and softball at school. He also is interested in photography, leaning to nature shots, and takes piano lessons—modern, of course.

Baptists Drop Gambling 'Skill'

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—Maurice D. Tulloch, who gave up the life of a Baptist minister to become a skill in a Las Vegas gambling casino, has been stripped of his ministerial standing.

The action was taken by the executive committee of the Kansas Baptist Convention. Tulloch, 50, was pastor of the First Baptist Church of Sabetha, Kan. Last Sept. 29 he walked out of a meeting of Baptist pastors in Hutchinson, Kan., and disappeared.

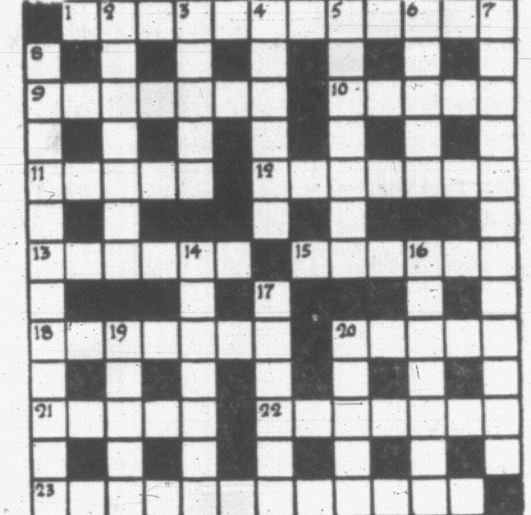

On Nov. 26 he was located in Las Vegas working as a skill—a gambling casino employee who poses as a customer to drum up trade.

AND WHAT'S YOUR PROOF, GENTLEMEN, THAT THERE'S TO BE AN ATTEMPT TO ASSASSINATE GENERAL LASSEN WHILE HE SPEAKS? NOTHING CONCRETE, COLONEL IBN SALAM, BUT WHAT BETTER TIME THAN NOW?

YOUR CONCERN IS ADMIRABLE, GENTLEMEN, BUT I HAVE STATIONED GUARDS EVERYWHERE, BESIDES, THE GENERAL WEARS A BULLET-PROOF VEST. BUT WHAT IF A BOMB IS RIGGED TO EXPLODE WHEN HE THROWS THAT SWITCH TO START THE NEW POWER PLANT? SUCH RISKS ARE INEVITABLE WITH A MAN AS PROMINENT AS THE GENERAL... IN SPITE OF ALL OUR PRECAUTIONS, IN ANY CASE IT'S TOO LATE TO INTERRUPT THE CEREMONIES BECAUSE OF THE WHIMS OF TWO AMERICANS.

DADDY WHY DON'T ANIMALS GET COLD OUTSIDE IN THE WINTER? YOU'D BETTER COME WITH ME BUDDY... BECAUSE ANIMALS HAVE FUR COATS!

HEY, BINGO — WATCHA BOW? SH!! BE QUIET—IM TRACKING SOME ANIMAL THAT'S BEEN CREEPING AROUND THE HOUSE. VA BIG GOOF! THOSE ARE YER OWN TRACKS! WELL--- NO WONDER I HAVEN'T BEEN ABLE TO CATCH HIM! HE'S JUST TOO CLEVER!

YOU DON'T BELIEVE HIS HIGHNESS IS LOST? COURSE NOT! HE'S PROBABLY JUST FALLEN INTO A BOG OR SUMPIN. HE'LL BE ALONG ANY TIME NOW, DON'T YOU FRET. HERE COMES MR. OOP ON HIS DINOSAUR. BUT I DON'T SEE THE KING. HEY, YOU GUYS, WHAT'S TH' WORD FROM GUZZ? AIN'T NONE, YOUR HIGHNESS. NO GUZ NEITHER, I VENTURE TSAY, AT LEAST THERE WAS NONE TODAY. THIS COULD BE A SERIOUS SITUATION!

WE'LL SOON BE AT BITSY FLAXON'S PLACE, CHERRY! GOOD... WE'VE DRIVEN A LONG WAY TODAY! MEANWHILE, AT BITSY FLAXON'S HOME... YOU'VE BEEN SAYING THAT EVERY YEAR SINCE WE WERE MARRIED BITSY, WE WERE STILL POOR AS CHURCH RICE! IF YOU'D GET THAT MILL JOB, AT LEAST WE'D KNOW WE WERE GOING TO EAT!

I KNOW IT'S BEEN TOUGH ON YOU LIZ, BUT BUSINESS IS GONNA PICK UP. PEOPLE HAVE GOT TO HAVE THEIR BIRD DOGS TRAINED... IF I CAN JUST GET MY PLACE ADVERTISED!

It's Not Too Much to Do For a Boy Who Is Dying

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Little Mike Rollins is only eight years old but he's already a writer. He dreams of the day he'll see his first story published.

If it's not quite the way he expected, it, maybe this will bring him the wonder he's searching for. It's not too much to do for a little boy who's going to die.

Mike doesn't know death is near. He knows he has a disease called lymphosarcoma, but nobody has told him it means acute leukemia because Mike knows Red Skelton's son died of leukemia.

Mike has been in the hospital four times since he became ill last August. He's there now and although he'd like to write, he's not quite up to it.

ARTICULATE, MODEST
Mike is a bright, good-looking youngster, alert, articulate—and modest.

"I'm not exactly a writer," he says. "I write stories. I want people to think they could happen—but heck, when someone else would read them, they'd laugh at them."

"It's just that I get these thoughts in my head and I just like to put them in stories."

Yet the real pleasure is still missing. They're unpublished, and, as Mike says, and other writers will agree:

"To have other people know you wrote it and know other people are reading it—it's a pretty good feeling."

Mike may never see this, but

MIKE ROLLINS

'MERRY CHRISTMAS'

By Michael Patrick Rollins
The day was cold, it was starting to snow. Through the streets of a small village walked a poor woodcutter with a small fir tree on his back.

When he came to a house on a corner, he knocked and was let in.

"Oh boy," said tiny voices when he walked in the door, "our Christmas tree."

It was the woodcutter's children, excited and happy as most children are around Christmas.

But his wife noticed a sad look on the woodcutter's face. "What is the trouble," she asked:

"We have no money for presents this year," said the woodcutter.

"But we know the real meaning of Christmas," said his wife.

"I know," said the woodcutter, "but the little ones will be disappointed."

"Don't worry, said his wife, "Christmas is still awhile away. Maybe you can find a way to make some money."

That night the woodcutter sat to think. Then he got an idea. He went to bed and the next morning he took his axe and went to the woods. After a while he came back with another fir tree and stood it up against the house and went back to the woods.

After awhile he came back again with another one and went to the woods. After he had about four trees he took them downtown. That night the woodcutter came home without the trees, but with a smile. The woodcutter continued this for a couple of days.

On Christmas morning, the woodcutter's children found their presents under the Christmas tree.

"How did you do it?" asked the woodcutter's wife.

"It was easy," said the woodcutter, "I sold Christmas trees."

HEATHER DUNCAN
... featured dancer

12 Lassies Prance Tonight

Heather Duncan, Pacific international Highland dancing champion, will be featured dancing "The Duke of Argyle" in the "Centennial Salute" number in the Royal Theatre tonight at 8.15.

Twelve Highland "lassies" in full regalia, accompanied by members of the 16th Canadian Scottish pipes and drums under direction of Pipe Major Frank Knight, will perform the salute.

A traditional Irish step dance will also be demonstrated.

Another "first" for Victoria will be the number "Tom-Tom Jazz," introducing modern jazz as seen on commercial television.

Unemployed Roll Rises by 276

Unemployment continues to mount in Victoria, with another 216 men and 60 women added to the rolls last week. Totals now stand at 3,031 men and 1,470 women looking for work, for a combined count of 4,501.

Total unemployed at this time last year was 4,539, and local National Employment Service officials point out the same time in 1957 saw a jump of 465, compared to 276 in the week just past.

Shipyard layoffs and heavy Christmas registrations for jobs are again blamed for the boost in number out of work.

GARY CROSBY NAMED IN SUIT

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Gary Crosby, eldest son of Bing Crosby, is defendant in a $44,370 damage suit in connection with a traffic accident. Mr. and Mrs. John A. Sullivan filed suit Thursday alleging they were injured when their auto was hit by Crosby's sports car Nov. 11.

LIQUOR GIFTS LEGAL HERE

Has Anybody Been Worried?

There is nothing in the B.C. Liquor Act to prevent one person giving another a bottle of liquor as a gift.

But the act does forbid distillers, brewers and exporters from giving away free liquor. A Canadian Press report said last week British Columbia, Alberta and New Brunswick "have joined Quebec—the province with Canada's most liberal liquor laws—in permitting gifts of liquor."

NEVER HAS BEEN

"It is hard to understand how we could give such permission," a government spokesman said. "There has never been anything in our laws to prevent one person giving a bottle of liquor to another for non-commercial purposes."

Saskatchewan, Ontario, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland have laws against giving or receiving liquor during the festive season—or any other time of the year.

The Ontario Liquor Control Board has issued a warning against accepting liquor as a Christmas gift.

INTERMUNICIPAL REQUEST

Planning Urged For Liquor Store

Greater Victoria intermunicipal committee Friday decided to ask the liquor control board to consult the Capital Region Planning Board before choosing a location for a new liquor store.

The action was taken after Saanich Reeve George Chatterton said he heard a new liquor store was being considered for the Greater Victoria area.

The committee agreed to recommend that the three outlying municipal councils adopt the city's policy prohibiting sale of fireworks by stores between Oct. 14 and Oct. 29 and after 6 p.m. Oct. 29, 30 and 31 in order to control Halloween incidents.

Plumbing inspectors of the four municipalities will be instructed to get together and discuss the possibility of producing standard plumbing by-laws for the Greater Victoria area if councils agree to another committee recommendation.

MISSILE SHIPS CHRISTENED

BREMERTON, Wash. (AP)—Two new guided missile frigates were christened at the Puget Sound Naval Shipyard Saturday, only hours away from the 17th anniversary of one of the Navy's darkest hours, the Japanese bombing of Pearl Harbor.

The frigates Coontz, and King, 512-foot-long ships of 5,500 tons, will be roving launching pads for the powerful Terrier air defence missiles.

The Coontz is scheduled for completion by April 30, 1960, and the King by Oct. 1, 1960.

Pensioner Bus Pass Drive Pushed

The support of all Victoria organizations connected with senior citizens is being enlisted by Silver Threads Services in their drive to get bus passes for pensioners.

Legion, church, and other groups are being asked to write to the Silver Threads affirming their support of the project.

Silver Threads intend to approach the B.C. Electric Company with a request for "some easement" of fares for "elderly people who are on assistance." "We want to approach the company as soon as possible," said president of the service Owen Karn, "and the more organizations we have behind us the better."

IN REGIONAL AUDITIONS FOR OPERA

Five City Singers Take First Big Step

Five Victorians Sunday sang themselves to the regional audition held at Holyrood House were Anne Harris, 24, Sylvan Lane; Adele Goult, 3961 Smuggler's Cove; Leona Hanley, 1322 Denman Street; Madonna McCabe, 215 Quebec Street, and Louis Kozsseg, 3147 Mars Street.

Ten applicants took part in the contest held before a local adjudicating board composed of Stanley Hoban, chairman, Margaret Abbott, Hans Gruber and Boyce Gaddes.

Competition was keen among the contestants, who hope to make a career of opera.

Audition chairman Hoban, a recent addition to Victoria music circles, who has been appointed as musical director for the Gilbert and Sullivan Operatic Society spring production of "Die Fledermaus," said he was especially impressed with the performance of Anne Harris.

With regard to the singers who did not make the grade, he said, most of them had fine vocal potentialities but needed additional technical training. "As a whole I was pleasantly surprised at the wealth of local talent in Victoria," he said.

The five Victorians will have a major hurdle to overcome in the Seattle auditions next month. They will be competing with singers from all parts of the Pacific Northwest. The winner of the Seattle audition will then be sent to the national competition in New York.

VICTORIA, B.C., MONDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1958 17

MONTE ROBERTS

Encouraging thought to start the day: Cheer up, it's the only Monday this week.

Snow! Beautiful, beautiful snow! I like snow. Winter is not complete without snow. I like snow when it lies deep and crisp and even. I like snow when it decorates the branches of the trees, and puts a polar bear rug on the front door steps, and lies spread from curb to gutter and gutter to gutter.

As long as it doesn't get any closer than Vancouver, and I'm still in Victoria.

To be quite serious about snow, there is nothing wrong with snow in its proper place. Its proper place is the country. And if mankind hadn't been so foolish about building cities, snow wouldn't be any trouble at all. It is just that cities and snow are incompatible, like hamburgers and mayonnaise.

And then there was the public relations man who spent most of his time in the bathtub. It was the only place he could get in a free plug.

Discouraging thought to end the day: I listened to Dr. Brock Chisholm Saturday, telling what is wrong with the world. As far as I can figure out, this world is not long for this world.

TIMES CAROL SHEET IN PAPER TUESDAY

Words for 22 Christmas songs will appear in the Times' annual carol sheet to be carried in Tuesday's issue. The songs are printed in tabloid format so they can be conveniently used at Christmas parties. A limited number of extra copies will be printed. Groups wanting them for special gatherings may obtain them from Times circulation, EV 2-3131.

A pre-Christmas sneak thief took a purse containing $107 from a woman shopper's parcel bag momentarily placed on a department store floor Saturday.

Police were told by Mrs. Mary Filipchuk, 1643 Pembroke, when she picked up her bag, the purse, also containing identification and personal papers, was gone.

Donald Kenneth Overton, 1416 Wende, was fined $250 in Saanich police court today when he pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving. Magistrate H. C. Hall remanded him to Friday for consideration of driver's licence suspension.

Theft of $75 worth of brass and copper-worked statuary was reported to city police Saturday by Kenneth Marshall, suite 4, 845 Balmoral. Marshall said someone entered the apartment by an unlocked door between 5 p.m. Friday and 4 a.m. Saturday, taking the articles from a bedroom dresser.

Included were a pair of Indian heads, two totem pole candlesticks a foot high, two elephant bookends, a brass measuring spoon and a pair of bookends in the form of birds.

Ronald Eric Norlin, 1190 Rock, previously fined for impaired driving, was restricted in city police court today to business driving only for a one-year period.

HUMAN PREDATORS KILL BEACON HILL PARK DEER

Beacon Hill Park lost its oldest deer to human predators over the weekend. Venison thieves killed a five-year-old buck and stole the carcass late Friday or early Saturday.

The buck had a fine set of antlers, city parks administrator W. H. Warren said today. Blood trails showed the buck had been dragged over the back end of the fenced enclosure in the park where deer and birds are kept. It could not be determined whether a knife or gun was used for the killing.

Mr. Warren said it was the second or third time a deer had been killed and stolen from the enclosure since it was established.

Seven to Hospital After Car Crashes

Poor driving conditions helped send seven people to hospital with varied injuries as a result of weekend traffic accidents.

Mrs. Madeline Bourgoine, 235 Belleville, is in good condition at St. Joseph's Hospital with suspected concussion, shock and an arm injury received when the car in which she rode was in collision with a parked car on Government at Chatham at 1 a.m. today.

Police said the car was driven by Reginald P. Kattler, HMCS Cowichan, who was treated for a neck injury and discharged.

Kattler's car was in collision with one parked car just south of Chatham, sending it into a second parked car, police said. On Sunday at 4:35 a.m., a car driven by Chester A. Angvine, 1463 Hamley, was in collision with two parking meters, a cluster lamp standard, a no parking sign and a pole on Government between Yates and Johnson, and Angvine was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for a checkup.

Mrs. Maude Smith, 76, of 3475 Bethune, was treated for neck and foot injuries and admitted to St. Joseph's after the car in which she was riding was involved in an accident at Brentwood at about 5 p.m. Sunday. Vernon A. J. Richards, 1334 Johnson, was treated at St. Joseph's for shock and abrasions after his car was in collision with one driven by Louis Schubert, 1106 Fort, at 10:15 p.m. Saturday at Cook and Yates.

Twenty-one minutes later, Thomas Harris of Comox received a hand cut when the car in which he rode was in collision with one driven by Harold W. Goodwin, 1031 Southgate, at Cook and Richardson. Driver of the first car was Thomas Harris, 989 Hampshire, police said.

Frank M. Skinner, 2535 Garden, was treated at HMCS Naden hospital for a mouth cut after his car was in collision with a parked car on Gorge near Jutland at 11:10 p.m. Friday.

Youth Centre Aid Asked By Sertoma

Victoria Sertoma service club today asked city council assistance in establishing a youth centre on Burnside Road.

City finance committee decided to interview club representatives before making any recommendations to council.

Club president Earl K. Ward said the clubhouse would contain a gymnasium. A tennis court would be built on the grounds.

CUT PRICE

The club requested that council donate two lots on Burnside, near Napier Lane, for the project or else sell the property at a cut price.

The lots, just inside the city limits, are valued at $5,800. The club said it would pay city taxes on the land.

The objects of the project, Mr. Ward wrote, "are to offer the boys in the city not only a free club for the improvement of their body and minds but also the opportunity to avail themselves of the big brother movement and youth employment service."

He added that juvenile delinquency dropped in other cities where similar projects were established.

I'd Have Dumped You Police Told by Racer Driver Fined $100 After Wild Chase

A stock car driver, who boasted to police he could have upset a pursuing patrol car in an 85-90 miles an hour chase on treacherous highway Saturday night, was fined $100 in Saanich police court today for criminally negligent driving.

Frank Newton, Island View Beach, pleaded guilty to the charge and was quoted by police as saying when arrested: "It's a good thing I didn't have a new car or you would never have caught me."

"If you'd come up beside me I'd have dumped you on your... I've done it hundreds of times on the race track."

Court was told Newton was caught by police on foot after he jumped from his car at Island View Beach at the end of the seven-mile chase starting on Patricia Bay Highway.

He told police he was afraid of being charged with impaired driving "and that means 21 days in the bucket."

Police said Newton was first paced at 70 miles an hour north on the highway and when the patrol car turned on red light and siren, Newton braked his car momentarily, then speeded up to 85 miles an hour for four miles.

Newton then flipped the rear wheels of his car in slush at the edge of the road, throwing it onto the police car's windshield.

The fleeing car speeded up to 90 before turning off the highway onto Telegraph Road in Central Saanich, police said. Island View Beach is at the end of Telegraph Road.

Officers, TV Man Sign Truce

The Army and an embattled television cameraman reached an armistice today and Kiwanis Village Fund is $100 richer after a weekend of negotiation.

James Walton, of CHEK-TV, who alleged assault and willful damage at United Services debuts' ball Friday night at Empress Hotel, said a settlement was reached on the understanding that an apology be made public.

Lieut. Col. Cyril Wightman, 3050 Beach, and Maj. Harold Davenport, 2012 Oak Bay, signed a letter apologizing to Walton and tendered a $100 cheque to be turned over to a charity of his choice.

The letter opened: "We, the undersigned, wish to express our sincere apology for the unfortunate action towards Mr. Jim Walton at the Empress Hotel on Dec. 5, 1958."

PUSHED AROUND

Walton claimed Saturday he was "pushed around" by a group of men attending the ball after he took movies of a woman who had fainted and fallen from the chair on which she stood to get a better view of debutantes being presented to Lieutenant-Governor Frank McK. Ross.

A hotel detective "rescued" Walton after he was shoved into an adjoining kitchen where, he said, his camera was torn from his grasp, opened and half the film exposed and ruined.

THIRD PARTY

The cameraman said Saturday he intended to lay charges over the affair.

Over the weekend a third party was called in to negotiate the settlement agreed upon today.

In their letter to Walton, the two reserve officers said: "We regret the loss of film from his camera and tender our apology to the parents of the debutants who would have normally been seen on our local TV station."

Island Greeks Meet Here To Celebrate Anniversary

Greeks from all parts of Vancouver Island met at the Sirocco Club Sunday to celebrate the 17th anniversary of the founding of the Victory Chapter or the Order of Ahepa (Anglo-Hellenic Educational Progressive Association).

The meeting featured an address by Mrs. Orsa Metra, senior citizen of Victoria's Greek community, who spoke on the pioneers of British Columbia.

Guests included Nick Kogos, past-supreme governor of the order for Canada, Rev. Harry Giavelas and Nick Podaras, past president of the Gladstone Chapter, all of Vancouver.

Jury Chosen In Mantha Murder Trial

A 12-man jury was empanelled this morning at the start of the Assize Court trial of Leo Anthony Mantha, 31-year-old James Bay tugboatman charged with the Sept. 6 murder of HMCS Naden sail AB Aaron Jenkins, 23.

Mantha sat in the dock fingering his right cheek as the jury was chosen. Wearing a light blue suit above a brown sweater, the accused, a heavily-built man, occasionally conferred with his counsel, George Gregory.

Assisting Mr. Gregory is A. B. Russ, Crown prosecutor is Lloyd McKenzie, assisted by Frank Donegan.

The case is being heard before Mr. Justice J. G. Ruttan. It arose following the knifing of Jenkins in the Nelles Block at HMCS Naden.

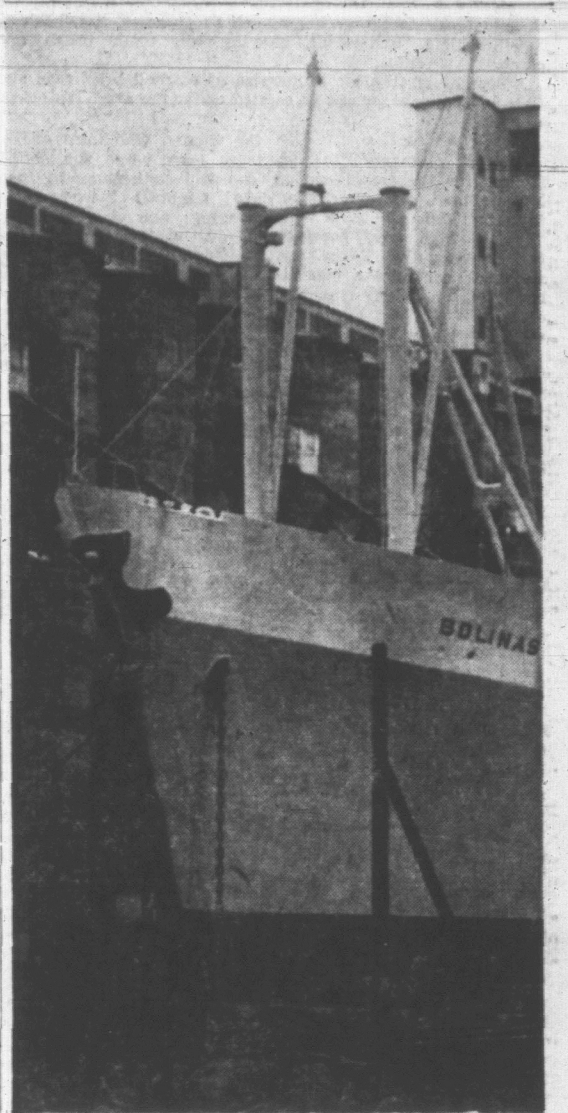

MINOR FIGHT

Prosecutor said Jenkins Sept. 5 came to Victoria on shore leave "and became engaged in a minor fight or some sort of accident" late in the evening.

Later a shipmate drove him back to Naden, where he was seen to enter the main gate at midnight.

At 2 a.m. Sept. 6 a sentry on duty at the block heard a scream and with a friend ran down the hall to cabin 150—"and saw Jenkins at the entrance, with blood coming from his nose or mouth."

"He collapsed. A knife was found on the cabin floor. He died shortly after."

Amalgamation Forum

(The big issue to be decided at the Victoria and Saanich elections this week is that of amalgamation. In this column, as they are received, The Times will carry letters from readers pro and con.)

Man-Made Split

"Where there is unity there is strength," or "divided we fall." These quotations sum up in a very few words my feelings towards the question of the integration of the two municipalities. The division now is mainly a man-made boundary, yet economically and residentially we share the same problems and only by common solutions can these things be resolved efficiently and effectively. In other instances we have separate problems which can best be solved with the assistance of one another. Combined assets and combined borrowing powers will aid Saanich in the growth problems anticipated in the next five or ten years. It is like mountain climbing—there is more satisfaction in reaching the top by oneself, but there is that "it." Yet we know that we can reach the top together and more quickly as a team.

It is too bad the referendum is not being put to the people under the same sections of the Municipal Act. Victoria's is merely an expression of opinion of which over 50 per cent will show the "go ahead" sign to the council. Saanich's referendum will require a 60 per cent vote to "pass," yet 58 per cent of the people might be for it and not receive it.

If our council is interested in a true expression of opinion and direction, why throw this extra "road block" in the way? Let's get our heads out of the sand and be aware of the developments around us. W. ARCH MUGGERIDGE, 1705 Garnet Road, Saanich.

Come to Us

I think there are definitely many advantages in the amalgamation of Victoria and Saanich, but I don't think Victoria should be the aggressor.

Due to good management over the past few years our financial set-up is improving, and in the near future we should be in a very suitable position.

If Victoria pushes this matter of amalgamation she will create a rift which in turn will develop into bitterness which will seriously offset any gain made by union.

I would say let Victoria carry on as she is, and let the municipalities come to us if and when they so desire. G. W. ROBINSON, 1307 Broad Street.

Age of Chivalry

As a native Victorian and a taxpayer in Saanich, it is comforting to hear from many Victorians how prosperous the city finances are at present—it is also depressing to learn from this same source into what a dire state Saanich and its finances have sunk.

It is, indeed, amazing that these same authorities are so willing and even longing to share the anxieties and burdens of their ailing sister municipality.

Indeed—the age of chivalry is still with us. Considerable has been advanced about the benefits which larger corporations produce — practice has proven, however, that things including municipalities, are not necessarily better nor better conducted because of greater size—often there is greater opportunity for inefficiency, waste and lack of supervision. Time and experience sometimes reveal that some decisions of councils and taxpayers have not been the wisest. I do not think though there has ever been waste of public money in Saanich to compare with the experience in Victoria's Memorial Arena, woolen mill, grain elevator, cold storage plant, to name only a few.

Better far to bear the ills we have than to fly to those we know not of. WM. J. V. CHURCH, 2952 Larkdowne.

Fair Treatment

A few years ago when the school districts of Victoria, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and part of Saanich were united, fears were expressed that Victoria City with its larger representation on the board, would dominate the situation, and receive the chief attention.

Is it not plain to a casual observer that all sections of SD 61 have been greatly improved, adequately represented on the board and given fair treatment?

Victoria and Saanich are really only two parts of what could be a fair-sized city — each the complement of the other. United, they would still be small enough to be serviced and directed from the centre. Surely provision could be made for a broad-based city council, with the interest of all sections safeguarded.

It is assumed that the forthcoming vote is to be taken as a general expression of opinion, and if favorable, the final terms will be submitted to the ratepayers.

J. E. BROWN, 5417 West Saanich Road.

SHOULD WIFE ATTEND OFFICE CHRISTMAS PARTY?

Is the wife of a company executive obligated to attend office Christmas parties? I have always begged out, because I felt that employees' husbands and wives are outsiders and that the employees would have a better time if their parties were confined to themselves. Louise

My husband thinks I should go. What is the usual procedure?

Louise Davis answers:

If your husband wants you to go, I suggest that you do by all means. I think that when a party like this is attended by the employees' husbands and wives that it is conducted on a dignified plane and can be a delightful once-a-year affair. It is often the only time when a wife is "exposed" to the group and there can be a better understanding as a result of that exposure. It's a lucky man whose wife is sympathetic and interested in his business and how much easier it is after she has been among those present. A wife's scope widens when she meets new people, and, furthermore, she develops contact with other executives and their wives, which can be healthy for her husband's business future. It is true that wives can greatly help their husbands if they are interested in their activities. By going to these Christmas parties or any other, it doesn't mean that you are obligated to include them in your own social sphere any more than they would be obligated to include you. Many times, however, real and delightful friendships have developed from these contacts. Go, and subject yourself to a new adventure. Chances are that there won't be much shop talk, if any, and chances are that you will go again.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Exercise Is Important in Maintaining Good Health

Evidence of the importance of exercise in maintaining good health is becoming more and more conclusive. There is evidence that hardening of the arteries is slowed up in the individual who exercises regularly while the sedentary person may collect more fatty deposits in his blood vessels.

There is no doubt that exercise is a relaxer. It reduces the residual tension in muscles caused by mental and emotional strains. It is the finest of all therapies for tension. It soothes the nervous system and fights insomnia. Exercise speeds up circulation and increases the oxygen supply to the heart, brain and tissues. Without exercise the muscles lose their tone and cannot properly do their jobs.

When you watch children at play you know how essential exercise is to their development and health. They climb and run and jump and wrestle. Experts now feel that exercise, when indulged in regularly, is just as important to the well-being of adults. Of course their exercise should be of a different sort.

Does exercise strain the heart? Most experts agree that moderate but regular exercise cannot be dangerous to the normal heart. As a matter of fact, studies indicate that the habit of exercise will decrease the chances of having a heart attack.

Mild exercises or walking, swimming, dancing or golfing (if the latter is not too competitive) are all wonderful unless you have a heart condition. Then of course you follow your physician's advice.

If you have been inactive physically and wish to begin some sort of exercise, you should first see a doctor and have your heart and blood pressure checked.

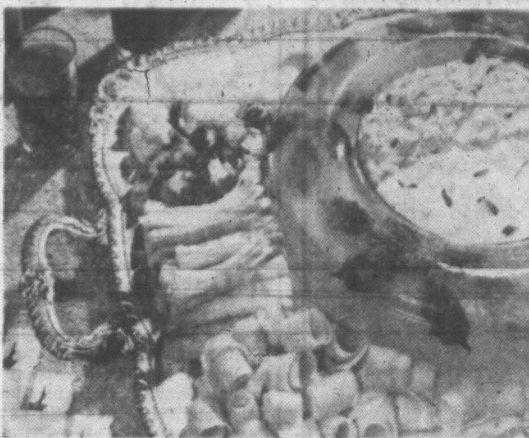

Choose the kind of exercise which suits your age—or better—your physical condition. BUT when you walk, swim or play golf, forget your problems—have fun and breathe deeply of the fresh air.

If you like to have my short exercise routine planned especially for women, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 19. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Donation—At the luncheon meeting of Victoria Rotary Women's Auxiliary, it was decided that a sum of $50 be donated to Gorge Road Hospital. Mrs. Percy B. Scurrah gave the blessing and Christmas carols were enjoyed by members, led by Mrs. M. Wilkinson, accompanied by Mrs. J. Gough at piano.

Nothing could be more appealing during the holiday season than an array of fresh vegetable relishes, arranged around a Christmas Ice Ring. Accompany this with some tangy dips.

Vegetable Relishes Refreshing Appetizers

If you are planning to do some holiday entertaining this year then don't forget one of the most popular appetizers to serve at your party—fresh raw vegetable relishes. A tray of these relishes offers such refreshment, with variety in flavor, color, texture and, of course, the vegetables are low in calories which makes them ideal for your weight-watching friends.

Fresh vegetables will be plentiful in the weeks to come so you will have carrots, celery, green onions, broccoli, cauliflower, cucumbers, dry onions, turnips and radishes to arrange for your relishes. The carrots can be quickly cut into strips, curls or fans, and celery is excellent stuffed or just served as sticks or fans. Cut the radishes into roses or accordions, leaving a bit of the green stem on each, and try serving cucumbers as wheels, making the ridges with fork tines the length of the cucumber. You will find, too, that raw cauliflower and broccoli flowerets have become increasingly popular and are especially delicious served with a tasty dip.

Vary your service of the vegetable relishes by arranging them in different containers and accompany them with a variety of dips. You might try a seasoned sour cream, cottage cheese or cream cheese dip, or perhaps your guests would prefer mashed avocado, flavored with onion.

For something really different try preparing a frozen ice ring, with holly mistletoe, or Christmas greens frozen right in the ring. Place your dips in the centre and surround with vegetables. The effect is most appealing.

SMOKY DIP

One 3-ounce package cream cheese, 1-6 ounce package smoky cheese, 1 pimiento, chopped; ¼ cup chopped ripe olives, ¼ teaspoon garlic salt.

Combine all ingredients in blender or mixer; mix until smooth and fluffy. Chill ½ hour to blend flavors. Serve with crisp raw vegetable relishes in Christmas ice ring. Makes 1½ cups.

SOUR CREAM DIP

1½ cups commercial sour cream, ¼ cup chopped green onions, 1 tablespoon vinegar, 1½ teaspoons horseradish, ¼ teaspoon salt.

Combine ingredients and chill ½ hour to blend flavors. Serve with crisp raw vegetable relishes in Christmas ice ring. Makes 1½ cups.

CHRISTMAS ICE RING

Pour ½ inch of water in large ring mold. Freeze until almost solid. Place holly leaves and berries in design on ice. Freeze until absolutely solid. Pour water carefully over leaves until mold is full. Return to freezer carefully to avoid moving leaves. Freeze until solid. Unmold on large tray by dipping outside of mold in warm water for a few seconds. Place bowl in centre of ice ring and place dips in bowl. Arrange fresh vegetable relishes around ring.

Queen Names New Royal Tailor

EASTBOURNE, Eng. (CP)—A gift replica of the royal coat of arms hangs above the door of a small pink-painted shop in this Sussex town. It confirms that John Driscoll has been formally appointed tailor to the Queen by royal warrant.

Fifty-six-year-old Driscoll, who left his employment with Norman Hartnell, the Queen's dressmaker, to set up a business of his own in the seaside town, makes suits, coats and sports clothes for the Queen and the Queen Mother.

Driscoll made frequent trips to Buckingham Palace and Clarence House, the royal residences. But he is reticent about the world's most exclusive customers.

"My business is founded on trust, and I don't propose to talk about it," he says. "Besides, I don't want to make any capital out of my work for the Royal Family." Driscoll's staff of 20 is sworn to secrecy. And Mrs. Driscoll has recently learned to type so that she can make out secret bills addressed to the royal houses.

Although the House of Hartnell is still doing tailoring work for the Queen, Hartnell's general manager, George Mit-cheson, says it's impossible to know whether Driscoll's business has affected the number of orders it receives from the Royal Family.

Two Waterfront Projects Asked by Nanaimo Groups

NANAIMO — City council has been handed a recommendation that it ask the federal government to go ahead with two waterfront improvements.

A Chamber of Commerce brief, supported by the Pacific Trollers' Association and the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union, has been presented to council.

The projects would be included in possible application for federal winter-work subsidies on labor costs.

They are: The construction of Gordon Street to continue it along Commercial Inlet to join up with Front Street, and accommodation for 800 small boats at the mouth of the Mill stream or at the Tidal Flats.

The brief said present float facilities at Farmers' Landing should be continued in use, but the floats at this site were deemed inadequate.

ISLAND 'MUST PREPARE' FOR A-BOMB ATTACK

NANAIMO — Preparations must be made to survey all available billeting spaces on Vancouver Island and have them ready for immediate use because the Island would be the only reception area available if mainland B.C. centres were attacked, school board engineer Jim Thorpe said here.

He said it would be impossible for people to move east because of danger of radioactivity.

Mr. Thorpe has just completed a civil defence course at CD headquarters in Arnprior, Ont.

FORMER general manager of the B.C. Power Commission, H. Lee Briggs, will make one of his last public appearances when he addresses Chemainus-Crofton and District Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday, Dec. 16. Meeting will be open to the public at 8 p.m. Supper for chamber members and guests will commence at 6.30.

Mayor Rocked By $107,000 In Fair Debts

NANAIMO — Vancouver Island Exhibition Association is more than $100,000 in debt.

The "distressing situation" was made public at a press conference called by the mayor.

The mayor said the association, as an incorporated society, is responsible for payment of the outstanding accounts.

Mr. Maffeo said the debt is causing financial problems among local firms.

The press was given a long statement by the mayor at the conference.

"In the course of the development of Exhibition Park, the association has incurred indebtedness of approximately $107,000. This burden is being carried by a number of local firms and is causing financial problems among them.

RESPONSIBLE
"It should be made quite clear that the association as an incorporated society is responsible for payment of these outstanding accounts."

Mr. Maffeo said the need for facilities for Empire Day celebrations, the RCMP musical ride and later the exhibition, encouraged the association to undertake "this ambitious program which has saddled them with this heavy load."

"The efforts of the association have given us a valuable asset," he said. "Unfortunately, their financial resources were far from sufficient to undertake such a development with the result that the city now is being asked by the association and the creditors to pull them out of their dilemma."

IRRESPONSIBLE
He continued: "While the Exhibition Association may be commended for what they have accomplished, they must also accept the responsibility for the irresponsible manner in which they have incurred financial obligations which they cannot possibly meet unassisted."

"The difficulties the Exhibition Association find themselves in," he said, "are the result of over-enthusiasm and a lot of bad luck."
"Personally I am prepared to see this thing through, even if it takes 10 years after I am out of council, if necessary."

180 DINE AND DANCE

Rod, Gun Banquet Proves Big Success

Annual Salt Spring Island Rod and Gun Club Banquet and Cabaret Dance has proved a social highlight of the fall season.

About 80 guests sat down to supper in Harbor House Hotel, Ganges, and saw awards presented for season derbies, and later were joined by 100 more persons at Mahon Hall for dancing.

Awards went to: B. C. Greenhough, heaviest buck of the season; Cliff Sampson, best set of horns; Lt.-Col. D. G. Crofton, biggest buck in first week-end of season; Fred Morris came top in the season salmon derby. Consolation prizes in the shooting derby were won by Earl Hardy and Ken Butterfield.

Mahon hall was decked in a hunting and fishing theme for the successful cabaret dance.

$250,000 Polio Target

CHEMAINUS — B.C. Kinsmen Clubs 1959 Child-Care and Polio Campaign will have an objective of $250,000, Ron Gibbons, club campaign chairman, told members of the local Kinsmen Club this week.

Regarding the local campaign, he said that the annual bottle drive will be held on Sunday, Jan. 11. Mothers' March will be held on Saturday, Jan. 30.

Sale Nets $175

GANGES — The sum of $175 was raised at the first Old Age Pensioners' Organization sale held in the Legion Hall, Ganges. Stalls were in charge of Mrs. P. Gunterman and Mrs. E. Thacker.

STUDENTS RAISE $250

Full Auditorium For School Show

Belmont Junior-Senior High School auditorium at Langford was filled for the recent student band concert.

The sum of $250 was raised to purchase new band equipment and music.

The entertainment took the place of formal talent show with gifted students appearing in numbers with artists from Victoria.

Enthusiastically received was the RCAF Reserve Band 2355 A.C. and W. Squadron under the baton of C. H. Denike.

It was the first time the band had performed publicly in concert program. D. Kerley of the Belmont teaching staff and director of the school band conducted the guest band in one of its march numbers. An outstanding selection was an arrangement of "Seventy-six Trombones."

One of the more ambitious numbers played by the Belmont High School Band was

"Voodoo" by H. L. Walters.

BARITONE

William Paterson was guest baritone soloist from Victoria. A. Richter, also of the school teaching staff, was heard in violin solos and later appeared in violin duet with Gregory Griffin, of Victoria.

Student soloists were Sheila Hincks, piano; Marcel Bouveur, trumpet; Margaret Williams, glockenspiel; Faith Bligh, vocal; Gina Hiscock, modern dance. A vocal duet was sung by Faith Bligh and Margaret Jacobs.

A. H. Stephenson, school principal, and members of the teaching staff were present to receive the parents and their friends.

Next school activity will be the Christmas concert in the auditorium Dec. 18 at 8 p.m. The general public is invited.

Northwest Bay Man Elected By Scout Body

QUALICUM BEACH — Frank Garrison, Northwest Bay, will head the Mount Arrowsmith District Boy Scouts' Association for the coming year, succeeding H. R. Haynes, Qualicum Beach.

Also elected at the annual meeting were: Vice-president, Garney St. Germain, Qualicum Beach; secretary, John Lee, Parksville; treasurer, W. A. Peterson, Parksville.

Responsibility of parents in the Scouting movement was the topic of Field Commissioner Dennis Flawith's talk at the meeting.

Reports from the six local group committees showed excellent progress in all areas. Project of the Qualicum Beach committee this year is a new Scout hut to accommodate the rapidly expanding troop and pack.

Students Present Double Feature At Drama Club

SOOKE — Both junior and senior students will take part in a program to be presented by Milnes Landing School Drama Club Wednesday at Sooke Community Hall.

A short one-act play, "Sisters Under the Skin," with students of grade 9 taking part, will start at 8 p.m., and will be followed by the comedy "Are Teachers Human?"

Doors will open at 7.30 p.m.

Junior Marksmen Receive Prizes

CHEMAINUS — Bobbie Karr and Larry Wasden were the prize winners in the junior shooting club's monthly competition. Bobbie received the prize for the most improvement and Larry for the highest average score.

The junior shooting club, sponsored by the Rod and Gun Club, has a membership of 22 boys ranging in age from 10 to 17. Weekly shooting and instruction is held in the community centre range. Instructors are Const. Wm. Bloxham, RCMP, and Ron Middlemist.

Pacifists 'Invade' Rocket Site

Fire Hoses Used
By U.K. Police

SWAFFHAM, Eng. (AP)—A score of pacifist demonstrators invaded a secret missile base again Sunday but police beat off their attempt to stop construction work on launching pads.

The demonstrators broke through the barbed wire perimeter just before dawn and marched through the mud toward the giant concrete mixer where they were man-handled and drenched by fire hoses, Saturday.

Some, including two women, climbed on to the mixer before police grabbed them. One was the demonstration leader, Pat Arrowsmith. She said police dunked her in a pond of mud and cement before taking her with other demonstrators to the base guardroom.

The demonstrators are members of a pacifist group known as the Direct Action Committee Against Nuclear War. Last summer they organized a much-publicized march on the British atomic weapons research centre at Aldermaston.

SLEPT IN HUTS

After Saturday's rout a score of the more determined-types spent the night in huts near the base, one of several rocket sites being built with U.S. help in East Anglia. The sites are for Thor rockets which the U.S. is supplying to the RAF. The nuclear warheads for the rockets are kept under U.S. control.

Dr. John Weston Wells, a physician who helped organize the protest, said the demonstrators aim to hold up work on the site.

Weston Wells said police split up the demonstrators and put them in the guardroom. They started shouting and were quickly released. They again tried to get in the base but the police by now had heavy reinforcements. So they sat down in the road, trying to stop trucks driving into the base.

Police hustled them back to the guardroom but again released them quickly. The demonstrators withdrew again, but returned to picket the base throughout the day.

The building industry in Canada is currently using more than 5,000,000 barrels of cement and 15,000 miles of electric wiring per annum.

Only City Area Escapes Fall

While southern B.C. struggled today under its heaviest blanket of snow in nine years, the 1.9 inches that fell in Victoria Saturday and Sunday was nearly entirely dissipated by 1.31 inches of rain which followed during the weekend.

Victoria is almost surrounded by snow—about three inches on the Malahat; three inches at Brentwood, two inches at Patricia Bay Airport.

Sportsman Hurt In Alberni Crash

Two RCMP constables and a dozen volunteers worked 6½ hours with a mercy sleigh at the end of a long tow truck cable to get the dead man and the injured off the mountain.

The car, a 1951 Ford, slid off the highway three miles east of Hope, just past a rock retaining wall. Hope is at the western end of the Fraser Canyon.

LOOSE SNOW
Police blamed loose snow
for the accident.

The children are so glad to get this modicum of relief for their distended stomachs, it is frequently eaten raw!

Money sent the Times office at 2631 Douglas, or to the Broadway office, is income tax deductible. Donations should be made payable to the "Mission for Hungry Children Fund".

Police said the five occupants of the car tumbled out one after another as the vehicle rolled crazily down the long bank.

Highways department crews and suitably dressed passersby

...were recruited for the long rescue operation.

A number of citizens from Hope, learning of the accident, rushed out to help.

Police praised the girl's heroic climb for help.

"I just don't see how she made it to the top," an amazed RCMP officer said.

PORTLAND, Ore. — Richard Gillett, 22, and Dorothy Manewal, 16, had a date Saturday night. They discovered they were brother and sister.

Gillett said they were separated 10 years ago when their mother died. He was adopted by a family in Canby, she by one in Gladstone, both small towns near here.

A friend introduced Richard to Dorothy several days ago. "I sort of liked Dick and we made a date for Saturday night," said Miss Manewal, a high school student.

"Saturday she explained," said Gillett, "that Dorothy wasn't her real name and that she really was Sara Esther Alridge.

"It wasn't until then that I knew she was my sister, because my real name is Michael Charles Alridge," said Gillett, a factory workman at nearby Oregon City.

Gillett said he had known all along that he had a sister, but had never tried to find her. Dorothy said the same of her brother.

Sunday, Richard was at his sister's home, helping her make Christmas decorations.

In the interior, Kelowna had 12 inches and Princeton reported 16, while Nelson had 6½ inches. Kamloops only two and the Cariboo was snow free.

CARS ABANDONED

In Vancouver hundreds of cars were abandoned at the sides of streets and highways in the city and suburbs. Most could not negotiate snow-slicked hills.

The city brought in 78 pieces of equipment to clear off main streets. No serious accidents were reported.

Portions of west end Stanley Park's nine-mile drive were closed when the weight of snow threatened to topple trees onto the road. There were scores of minor power failures.

The weight of snow forced 23 boat houses down into the water at the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club, damaging berthed yachts. Damage was estimated at $35,000.

POWER OUT

Five districts on the North Shore, across Burrard Inlet, were without electricity for varying periods because of felled trees and other snow-induced factors.

A blizzard struck the Fraser Valley Sunday and by 4 p.m. the main road between Chilliwack and Hope was blocked by three-foot drifts. Dozens of cars were stalled on the highway for three hours until a plow opened a single lane.

The heavy snow was expected to mean further unemployment. As many as 5,000 loggers in B.C.'s Lower Mainland and Vancouver Island could be laid off if the snow continues to halt woods operations.

LOGGING HIT

The snow has slowed down Island logging operations involving about 3,000 men. Most of the camps are operating at high levels, adversely affected by snowfall. If more snow comes—as the forecast predicts—operations could be halted entirely.

There has been little drift—have been sporadic at between 15 and 20 mph.

A mixture of snow and rain is predicted for Victoria tonight and temperatures will again reach the low 30s, climbing to near 40 Tuesday.

There is a battle between Arctic air and mild air coming from the southwest over this region, and temperatures are expected to remain steady for the time being due to the mixture.

Greater Victoria municipal engineers report no major complaints despite the "heavy" precipitation.

Socreds Start 'Big Push' With Flood of Pamphlets

By PETE LOUDON
Times Political Reporter

TRAIL — The "Big Push" by Social Credit is now underway in the Rossland-Trail by-election. Election day is Dec. 15.

The new offensive is marked by a flood of campaign literature and a stepped-up TV campaign which is dwarfing the spending of the three other parties combined.

Three more cabinet ministers have entered the fight.

And for the first time, voters have heard a spirited defence of Robert Sommers by a party spokesman.

The riding was blanketed on the weekend with two-color, slick-paper pamphlets, four to a bundle, a bundle to a house. As well, thousands of copies of a recent issue of Time Magazine, which devotes an eight page section to

B.C. progress, have been mailed to voters.

The Social Credit party is beaming TV spot announcements into the area.

Among the pamphlets is a copy of the apology to Premier Bennett by the Vancouver Province which followed the first partly-incorrect story of proposed government handling of B.C. Power Commission debt.

Herbert Bruch drove over the snowy roads to keep the speaking date.

That was where Mr. Bruch made a defence of the former lands and forest minister, Robert Sommers, who lost his seat when convicted of accepting bribes.

"Of all the members in the legislature," said Mr. Bruch—avoiding, as have all other speakers of all parties, mentioning Sommers by name—"the member you had from Rossland-Trail most certainly represented this area to the best of his ability."

He credited Mr. Sommers with having delivered one of the best speeches of the last session of the legislature, and said it was not true this riding was not adequately represented.

He denied there is an issue of political morality involved in the by-election.

"Do you want a government and an attorney-general who are themselves going to be judge and jury?" he asked.

The government was right in delaying any action until the courts had finally issued a decision, he contended. The opposition wanted the attorney-general to suddenly make a decision which it took a jury six months to arrive at, said Mr. Bruch.

"This has been our stand: If there was evidence of wrongdoing, there were certain ways to proceed.

"If there was negligence on anyone's part, there was negligence on the part of the people who did not present evidence in sufficient quantity or earlier than they did," Mr. Bruch said.

He called the action of Mr. Sommers "a mistake."

"Ever since human nature began, man being human, has been subject to mistakes. Only one man was perfect and they crucified him.

He said the government is a "second look" government and "we are willing to say we made a mistake."

Mr. Bruch charged opposition speakers who criticize recently announced highways department projects as "election bait" with inconsistencies.

"The opposition says the charges by ousted power commission general manager H. Lee Briggs, that in order to be able to say he was debt free, Premier Bennett was forcing the power commission to make fresh borrowings in its own name, to cancel $28,000,000 in debt on the province's books.

He called the action of Mr. Sommers "a mistake."

Mr. Bruch charged opposition speakers who criticize recently announced highways department projects as "election bait" with inconsistencies.

"The opposition says the charges by ousted power commission general manager H. Lee Briggs, that in order to be able to say he was debt free, Premier Bennett was forcing the power commission to make fresh borrowings in its own name, to cancel $28,000,000 in debt on the province's books.

He called the action of Mr. Sommers "a mistake."

Bruch Contradicts Bennett Claim

The opposition "had to admit this was carried as a contingent liability." It never was listed as direct debt of the province.

(Opposition speakers have admitted this, but point out the $28,000,000 remained nonetheless in the government's name and as long as this was the case, it would detract from the premier's anticipated debt-free picture in 1960.)

Mr. Bruch said the only reason the premier was interested in refinancing the BCPC bonds held by the government was that "when there are bond issues out, there are certain times they can be redeemed." In the case of these bonds, the time is now.

On one major point Mr. Bruch contradicted an earlier statement by the premier.

Mr. Briggs had said the premier intended that various government trust funds would invest in a new BCPC bond issue at a 4 per cent rate of return while current market return rate is 5.1 per cent interest.

Mr. Briggs said the lost interest payable to the public trust funds, plus the loss to the power commission which would be paying higher than the 3.1 per cent it now pays,

He said the government is a "second look" government and "we are willing to say we made a mistake."

Mr. Bruch charged opposition speakers who criticize recently announced highways department projects as "election bait" with inconsistencies.

CAMPAIGN SIDELIGHTS

By Times Staff Reporter

Add to the names of politically-important weekend visitors in the area—Vancouver's William Black, business manager, Hospital Employees' Union, and B.C. Federation of Labor president.

The Victoria Times front page editorial, criticizing the makeup of the Shrum royal commission on power matters and its terms of reference, is being quoted at great length in this campaign by F. E. "Buddy" DeVito, CCF candidate.

The editorial is receiving applause.

Trail got a new coat of snow Saturday but temperatures stayed in the 30s.

It gave proper atmosphere for a Santa Claus parade staged by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, but wasn't welcomed by the bare-legged majorettes. If any of the by-election candidates draws the support the town gave Santa he's in like Flynn.

Trail is the fifth largest "working community" in B.C. which means a major effort by all candidates is directed at winning the labor vote.

CCF MP H. W. Herridge sponsored a Labor meeting at nearby Nelson Saturday toward that end.

Ostensibly, the meeting of East and West Kootenay Trade Union Members' Conference was to obtain the views of trade unionists on "the many important questions in the federal and provincial fields."

But main reason, says observers, is to unite labor vote in Rossland-Trail behind CCFer DeVito.

The powerful Mine-Mill Union (2,800 card carriers) which represents the Trail workers at Cominco, split long ago with the Canadian Congress of Labor and couldn't sit in on CLC-CCF political action conferences.

But this meeting was attended by two CCF MLAs, Ran Harding (Kaslo-Slocan) and Leo Nimsick (Cranbrook) as well as labor delegates, and appeared to be a political action meet under an alias.

A local estimate is that the TV bill alone for Socred "spots" must be over $1,000 a day.

The CCF is fighting the by-election on a budget of $1,500 in total.

Rossland-Trail may be in line for another highways project announcement.

Socred Don Brothers said Saturday at Fruitvale: "I believe Mr. Gagliardi (Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi) will make statement on the Sheep Creek cut-off when he speaks at Rossland Dec. 11."

Will the Doukhobors enter the by-election scene? There are many Sons of Freedom farmers in the region near where Attorney-General Robert Bonner is to speak at Castlegar Friday.

Some have children in the provincial compulsory boarding school at New Denver.

Some mothers have never ceased their efforts to gain their children's freedom.

Ottawa Action Called Political Manoeuvre

FRUITVALE, B.C. (CP)—The federal government has been accused of playing politics with its announcement on development of the Columbia River.

Donald Brothers, Social Credit candidate in the Dec. 15 provincial by-election in Rossland-Trail, told a campaign meeting here Saturday night a federal announcement Friday was a political manoeuvre timed to coincide with the by-election.

Acting Prime Minister Howard Green announced in Ottawa that a report on Columbia development has been received and talks with the United States should start next year.

"The announcement from Ottawa concerning the Columbia River development was made specifically for playing politics at this time," Mr. Brothers said. The river flows through the constituency.

Escapism

"It's time for your rest, Mother," said Emily.

Mrs. Carstairs made a little face. "I don't feel like resting in the least. Such a lot of things I want to do. Letters and cards and my list of presents. With Christmas coming, they must be done, dear."

Emily was adamant. "You know what the doctor said. At least an hour every day after lunch. A little sleep and a chance to rest your feet."

But Mrs. Carstairs didn't really sleep. Instead, she snuggled beneath the eiderdown, and let her thoughts wander lazily.

Escapism, (she thought). Somehow, in recent years, it's become an almost dirty word. And yet, for most of us, a certain measure of escape is necessary. It's what keeps us sane.

G. B. Stern, (she continued). Somewhere in "The Part of the Forest" there's a bit about escapism.

For a moment—she thought of going downstairs to find the book. But Emily would hear her going down, she realized, and she didn't want to be told again about the doctor and at least an hour every day after lunch.

The G. B. Stern quotation, she recalled, was about escapism being good for us, provided that we didn't take a one-way ticket. For permanent escape was disastrous. It must only be taken in little snatches.

The methods of escape from the responsibilities and realities of life, Mrs. Carstairs mused. Some find it in formal religion and in the quiet contemplation of eternity. That's how Maria used to achieve serenity and acquire additional strength.

Ruth

With Robert, it was drinking. Those bouts of his were sheer escape. When he'd drunk enough, care and responsibility and tension fell away. But that was only in the early years. Oh Lord, is there anything more tragic than to watch the gradual disintegration of an unhappy drinker?

For George, it was music, always.

For Helen, it was the solitude of her yearly sojourn at the Lake. Just paddling round in her canoe, and painting. What was the phrase she always used? "Recharging her batteries." I think it was.

Lydia, though she'd never admit it, used good works as her method of escape. She didn't do them from the kindness of her heart, but as an escape from boredom and that disastrous marriage.

For Richard, it was the peace and quiet of unspoiled woods, and getting away from people.

Edward hated the woods. For him, it was sailing. He once said that he only felt free when he was sailing. Especially when he was sailing out of sight of land.

Myrtle found her release among the mountains. She once told me that to walk along the ridges, high above the timber line, and to contemplate the peak brought her a renewal of the spirit.

"I don't know," she murmured drowsily. "I suppose it's what raises us above the beasts. A bit mixed up with cosmic loneliness, truth and beauty, and the eternal search for happiness. Mankind longing for the moon. The way things are going, he'll get there, too. A fat lot of good it'll do him. He'll find it isn't what he wanted after all!"

And Emily, peeping in through the half-open door, saw that her mother was almost asleep.

Seeking Longer Life

LONDON — Somerset Maugham is in town for the publication of his latest book, "Points of View," a collection of essays. He says that this is his final book. He has reached an age when he has written himself out.

And discussing his age he said, with a typical Maugham twist: "When they gave me a dinner on my 80th birthday somebody showed me a table of life expectancy. For a man of 80 it was 84 years nine months. That is precisely my age now."

But the life expectancy tables don't worry him. He is booked up for a sea voyage to Japan next year, the first of a series of trips that will form a sort of extended farewell to the world. He is quite convinced that despite his advanced years he'll be well able to undertake the lengthy world tour—thanks to Niehans.

Maugham has been taking treatment from Dr. Paul Niehans, the 76-year-old Swiss exponent of cellular therapy. Cellular therapy? It's part of the search for a longer life, trying to solve the mystery of the ageing of the body's tissues and cells.

Dr. Niehans' technique consists of injecting into the human young living cells from animals and many others of the world's most famous peoples besides Maugham have sought his aid. Among them Furtwangler, the conductor; Gloria Swanson; the Duchess of Windsor. Most spectacular of Niehans' achievements—the prolonging of the life of Pope Pius XII from 1954 onwards.

TODAY'S BEST FROM EUROPE

John D. Greeted By Insect Spray

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand (CP)—A burst of insect spray greeted Prime Minister Diefenbaker on his arrival today for a six-day New Zealand visit.

While two cabinet ministers waited outside the plane at Harewood Airport, and the Canadian leader waited inside, a health officer boarded the plane, closed the door and sprayed the aircraft throughout with insect killer designed for malaria-carrying mosquitoes.

The Canadian party had come from Australia and the official said he realized the plane was sprayed six days ago when it arrived there from Asia.

"It's rather fantastic but it's a local regulation," he said apologetically.

FORMAL GREETING

Outside the plane a more formal welcome was given Diefenbaker by the government and an army guard of honor. He was greeted by Minister of Maori Affairs E. T. Tirikatene and Social Security Minister Mabel Howard.

In a recorded radio and television statement Diefenbaker said he was happy to be back in a country which had been a campaign partner in two world wars and the Korean War. He was here seven years ago for a Commonwealth parliamentary conference.

The Canadian premier was to attend a civic reception tonight in this city—largest in New Zealand's South Island—and Tuesday flies to Dunedin and then to Wellington.

Writs attaching the 7,114-ton liner and her cargo for more than $1,000,000 in debts were posted on the foremast within minutes after the vessel docked here.

The Swiss-owned ship, flying the Panama flag, turned into Bermuda instead of going directly to New York—apparently in a move to escape creditors awaiting her return from a 15-day Caribbean cruise.

The passengers were told they would be flown the rest of the way home in chartered planes as soon as possible.

HAD TO POST BOND

The liner sailed from New York on Nov. 21 for a cruise to Caribbean ports, with a financial cloud hanging overhead. She was allowed to set out only after posting a $40,000 bond.

Writs served by the police here listed among big creditors Esso Standard Oil of Switzerland $918,000 for fuel and other supplies and Catex of Switzerland $364,054.

Agents for Wall Street Tours, which chartered the ship for the cruise, assured passengers they would be flown to New York as soon as possible.

Surprise Attack Control Parley at Dead End

GENEVA (AP)—The United States and Russia agreed today that the 10-power talks on prevention of surprise attack have reached a dead end.

There was no sign, however, that the talks would be broken off immediately. They originally were planned to last five weeks and have been going on for the last four.

The Eastern and Western delegations have been deadlocked from the beginning over the purpose of the negotiations. Western delegates contend they are here only to study ways of launching a surprise attack and the technical machinery to detect attack preparations in advance.

The Communists have tried repeatedly to take up political issues, contending that they are what will produce a surprise attack.

At today's session, Chief U.S. Delegate William C. Foster said the Western powers felt they could not go any farther in presenting technical studies dealing with surprise attack problems unless the Soviet bloc countries participated in this work.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vassili Kuznetsov replied that the Western studies dealing with long-range bombers, missiles and land forces did not get down to the basic causes of surprise attack in the Russian view and therefore were not acceptable.

The Russians have offered to allow watchdog control posts inside the Iron Curtain within a worldwide network to prevent sneak armed attacks—but they attached two conditions.

One condition called for scaling down by a third the strength of foreign armies in Europe; the other demanded a ban on all nuclear weapons in West and East Germany.

The Soviet proposals were presented to the Geneva conference 10 days ago, Moscow Radio said in giving the details for the first time.

BIG THREE ADVANCING

Meanwhile, the Big Three conference on suspension of nuclear weapon tests was to turn to discussion of a control and inspection system to enforce compliance with any test ban.

The United States, Britain and Russia agreed Saturday on the first clause of an agreement outlawing test explosions. But the big stumbling block is expected to be the second clause outlining the control system.

The United States and Britain have insisted they would not sign any agreement unless it provided for a complete fool-proof detection system.

Africans Want Freedom

ACCRA, Ghana (AP)—Premier Kwame Nkrumah today called on the colonial powers to start making arrangements immediately to hand over government control to nationalist leaders in their African territories.

He also called on African nationalist leaders in colonial territories to make their struggles for independence non-violent.

Nkrumah opened a one-week conference of African political and trade union leaders to consider ways of helping dependent territories in Africa achieve freedom.

About 300 delegates assembled for the conference, regarded as the beginning of a joint campaign by nine independent African states to get European powers off their continent and set a pattern for a union of the independent states.

SEND OBSERVERS

Observers from Britain, the United States, France and the Soviet Union are attending but not participating.

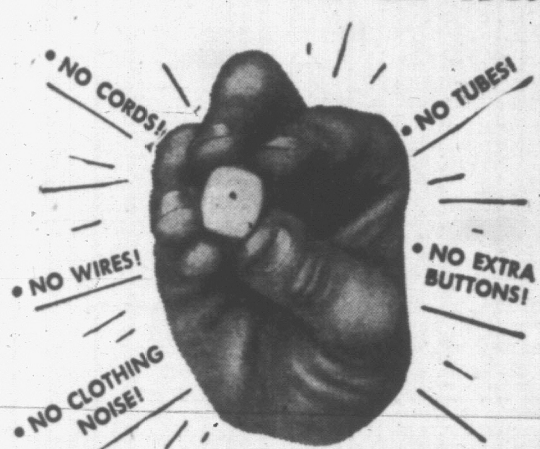

Nkrumah said "let us start immediately to think of one continent under one union."

Last month Ghana and the new African republic of Guinea, which voted independence from France in October, decided to join in a united republic. Nkrumah and Premier Sekou Toure of Guinea said they would welcome other West African States into their union.

U.K. FOGBOUND FOR 26TH DAY

LONDON (AP)—Fog blanketed some parts of Britain Sunday for the 26th consecutive day. Dense fog spread over London and surrounding counties Saturday night and icy roads added to the hazard in places. Outward flights from London airport were cancelled for most of the night and incoming flights were diverted.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

Ideas for Festive Season

Far from discarding thoughts of his garden at the approach of the Christmas season, the home gardener will endeavor to plan how he may utilize his hobby to include it in his festive preparations.

Granted that much will depend on previous planning, about the first things he, or in this case his wife, will use are carrots and potatoes to improve the flavor and quality of the Christmas puddings.

With these safely stored away, he might well spend an evening of collaboration with said wife in allotting suitable gifts to those new gardening friends he has made during the year.

A choice plant or two of Christmas-rose (Helleborus niger), carefully dug and suitably wrapped, would be well received by the folks who have already admired them growing in the garden.

A root of rhubarb packed into a huge carton can give a lot of fun and enjoyment to the new neighbor who was pleased to receive fresh stalks over the fence last May.

DON'T BE SHY

There is no surer way to convince a wavering would-be gardener than to present him with token jars of pickles, jars and jelly, all made from home-grown produce. And when he wants information on varieties to grow and general procedure, don't be shy—share your knowledge and put him on the right track to get further information which you may not have.

When it comes to decorating the home, most established gardens will have at least a few branches and twigs of evergreen or berried shrubs to bring indoors.

A garden planned for the summer months only does not contribute to the festive season as one planned on a year-round basis. And the benefits of the all-year garden are shared by the gardener and the community.

Toronto Golds Hit Peak

Gold pushed to a record high for the year in Toronto today rising to an 86.56 index on rumors of a price increase. Previous peak was 86.40 on Nov. 17.

On Wall Street outstanding issue was natural gas, in big demand as the U.S. Supreme Court ruled pipelines could increase rates on their own, subject to refund if the Federal Power Commission later disallowed the post.

AT TORONTO western oils continued their advance, ahead one point on index. Base metals were off almost 1 1/2 point and industrials lost nearly three-quarters.

Among industrials, papers, banks and steels were easier. Foods were higher and pipelines and refining oils mixed. Great Lakes Power led the industrial winners, ahead 4 points 24. Most changes were in a 1 point range. TransCanada Pipeline added 1/2 at 27 1/2 and Trans Mountain was up 1/4 at 10 1/2.

Consumers' Gas, at 34, and McColl Frontenac, at 6 1/2, each lost 1 point. B.A. Oil dipped 1/2 at 38 1/2.

International Nickel, up 1/4 at 82 1/2, was the only senior mine to show a gain. Losses ranged to Hudson Bay's 1 dip at 53 1/2. Uranium was easier around 4.

Gold went ahead as Giant Yellowknife added 15 cents at $6.05 and 10-cent wins went to Bralorne and Preston East Dome.

Seniors led western oils higher. Pacific Pete added 1/4 at 17 1/2 and Royalite and Home "B" each gained 1/4.

3 VICTORIANS FIGHT LABATT'S IN COURT

VANCOUVER (CP)—Three Victoria shareholders in Lucky Lager Brewing Company have gone to court to prevent John Labatt Limited, eastern brewers from taking over their shares for $25 each.

Their case went before Mr. Justice A. M. Macfarlane Friday but was adjourned immediately. No date was set for a further hearing.

Gerald Fitzpatrick Dunn, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce; his wife, Joan, and Sookie Investments Limited are asking the B.C. Supreme Court to rule that Labatt's is not entitled to acquire their shares.

Labatt's is seeking under the Companies Act to force minority shareholders to sell their stock at the original offering price of $25 each. An order to this effect was made Nov. 4 by Mr. Justice J. G. Rutland when Labatt's held more than 90 per cent of Lucky Lager stock.

The Victorians claim that the court order should be cancelled because the original order made by Labatt's last May 4 "was not then and is not now a just and equitable price."

They also claim that section 128 of the Companies Act, 1924, referred to in the court order, does not permit acquisition by Labatt's of Lucky Lager shares.

Five City Singers Take First Big Step

Five Victorians Sunday sang themselves to the regional semi-final auditions of the Metropolitan Opera Company to be held in Seattle on Jan. 10. Winners of a regional audition held at Holyrood House were Anne Harris, 24, Sylvan Lane; Adele Goult, 3961 Smuggler's Cove; Leona Hanley, 1322 Denman Street; Madonna McCabe, 215-Quebec Street, and Louis Kozseghy, 3147 Mars Street.

Margaret Abbott, Hans Gruber and Boyce Gaddes.

Competition was keen among the contestants, who hope to make a career of opera.

Audition chairman Hoban, a recent addition to Victoria music circles, who has been appointed as musical director for the Gilbert and Sullivan Operatic Society spring production of "Die Fledermaus," said he was especially impressed with the performance of Anne Harris.

With regard to the singers who did not make the grade, he said, most of them had fine vocal potentialities but needed additional technical training.

"As a whole I was pleasantly surprised at the wealth of local talent in Victoria," he said.

The five Victorians will have a major hurdle to overcome in the Seattle auditions next month. They will be competing with singers from all parts of the Pacific Northwest.

The winner of the Seattle audition will then be sent to the national competition in New York.

MONTE ROBERTS

Encouraging thought to start the day: Cheer up, it's the only Monday this week.

Snow! Beautiful, beautiful snow!

I like snow. Winter is not complete without snow. I like snow when it lies deep and crisp and even. I like snow when it decorates the branches of the trees, and puts a polar bear rug on the front door steps, and lies spread from curb to curb and gutter to gutter.

I like the challenge of driving in snow, and the fun of cutting paths through it, and the good, wholesome exercise of shovelling it away from the garage doors.

Snow! Beautiful, beautiful snow! I certainly like snow.

As long as it doesn't get any closer than Vancouver, and I'm still in Victoria.

To be quite serious about snow, there is nothing wrong with snow in its proper place.

Its proper place is the country.

And if mankind hadn't been so foolish about building cities, snow wouldn't be any trouble at all.

It is just that cities and snow are incompatible, like hamburgers and mayonnaise.

(I wish I could get over my habit of making references to mayonnaise, either that, or learn how to spell mayonnaise. I can't go on the rest of my life being saved by the proofreader.)

And then there was the public relations man who spent most of his time in the bathtub.

It was the only place he could get in a free plug.

Discouraging thought to end the day:

I listened to Dr. Brock Chisholm Saturday, telling what is wrong with the world.

As far as I can figure out, this world is not long for this world.

TIMES CAROL SHEET IN PAPER TUESDAY

Words for 22 Christmas songs will appear in the Times' annual carol sheet to be carried in Tuesday's issue. The songs are printed in tabloid format so they can be conveniently used at Christmas parties.

A limited number of extra copies will be printed. Groups wanting them for special gatherings may obtain them from Times circulation, EV 2-3131.

A pre-Christmas sneak thief took a purse containing $107 from a woman shopper's parcel bag momentarily placed on a department store floor Saturday.

Police were told by Mrs. Mary Filipchuk, 1643 Pembroke, when she picked up her bag, the purse, also containing identification and personal papers, was gone.

Donald Kenneth Overton, 1416 Wende, was fined $250 in Saanich police court today when he pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving. Magistrate H. C. Hall remanded him to Friday for consideration of driver's licence suspension.

Theft of $75 worth of brass and copper-worked statuary was reported to city police Saturday by Kenneth Marshall, suite 4, 845 Balmoral. Marshall said someone entered the apartment by an unlocked door between 5 p.m. Friday and 4 a.m. Saturday, taking the articles from a bedroom dresser.

Included were a pair of Indian heads, two totem pole candlesticks a foot high, two elephant bookends, a brass measuring spoon and a pair of bookends in the form of birds.

Ronald Eric Norlin, 1190 Rock, previously fined for impaired driving, was restricted in city police court today to business driving only for a one-year period.

Victoria Real Estate Board directors have unanimously approved City Hall's plans for off-street parking in the downtown area. Col. Russell Ker, board chairman, has urged ratepayers to approve the $1,000,000 money bylaw, which would launch the program, when they vote Thursday.

Christmas party of the Esquimalt Golden Age Club will follow a meeting Wednesday at 2 p.m. in the Fraser St. Scout Hall.

Youth Centre Aid Asked By Sertoma

Victoria Sertoma service club today asked city council assistance in establishing a youth centre on Burnside Road.

City finance committee decided to interview club representatives before making any recommendations to council.

Club president Earl K. Ward said the clubhouse would contain a gymnasium. A tennis court would be built on the grounds.

CUT PRICE

The club requested that council donate two lots on Burnside, near Napier Lane, for the project or else sell the property, at a cut price.

The lots, just inside the city limits, are valued at $5,800. The club said it would pay city taxes on the land.

The objects of the project, Mr. Ward wrote, "are to offer the boys in the city not only a free club for the improvement of their body and minds but also the opportunity to avail themselves of the big brother movement and youth employment service."

He added that juvenile delinquency dropped in other cities where similar projects were established.

Vernon A. J. Richards, 1334 Johnson, was treated at St. Joseph's for shock and abrasions after his car was in collision with one driven by Louis Schubert, 1106 Fort, at 10:15 p.m. Saturday at Cook and Yates.

Twenty-one minutes later, Thomas Harris of Comox received a hand cut when the car in which he rode was in collision with one driven by Harold W. Goodwin, 1031 Southgate, at Cook and Richardson. Driver of the first car was Thomas Harris, 989 Hampshire, police said.

Frank M. Skinner, 2535 Garden, was treated at HMCS Naden hospital for a mouth cut after his car was in collision with a parked car on Gorge near Jutland at 11:10 p.m. Friday.

City Can't Stop Assessment Hike

City council cannot do anything to stop higher re-assessments of older homes next year, city finance committee learned today.

The re-assessment, ordered by the provincial government under the Assessment Equalization Act, will boost assessments on older houses from 40 per cent of market value to 60 per cent.

But actual taxes will not increase proportionately because some of the increased assessment will be non-taxable, city assessor Alfred Joyce told the committee.

City legal department informed the committee that full or partial exemptions from the increases could not be legally granted by the city.

HUMAN PREDATORS KILL BEACON HILL PARK DEER

Beacon Hill Park lost its oldest deer to human predators over the weekend.

Venison thieves killed a five-year-old buck and stole the carcass late Friday or early Saturday.

The buck had a fine set of antlers, city parks administrator W. H. Warren said today.

Blood trails showed the buck had been dragged over the back end of the fenced enclosure in the park where deer and birds are kept. It could not be determined whether a knife or gun was used for the killing.

Mr. Warren said it was the second or third time a deer had been killed and stolen from the enclosure since it was established.

Seven to Hospital After Car Crashes

Poor driving conditions helped send seven people to hospital with varied injuries as a result of weekend traffic accidents.

Mrs. Madeline Bourgoine, 235 Belleville, is in good condition at St. Joseph's Hospital with suspected concussion, shock and an arm injury received when the car in which she rode was in collision with a parked car on Government at Chatham at 1 a.m. today.

Police said the car was driven by Reginald P. Kattler, HMCS Cowichan, who was treated for a neck injury and discharged.

Kattler's car was in collision with one parked car just south of Chatham, sending it into a second parked car, police said.

On Sunday at 4:35 a.m., a car driven by Chester A. Angvine, 1463 Hamley, was in collision with two parking meters, a cluster lamp standard, a no parking sign and a pole on Government, between Yates and Johnson, and Angvine was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for a checkup.

Mrs. Maude Smith, 76, of 3475 Bethune, was treated for neck and foot injuries and admitted to St. Joseph's after the car in which she was riding was involved in an accident at Brentwood at about 5 p.m. Sunday.

Johnston, was treated at St. Joseph's for shock and abrasions after his car was in collision with one driven by Louis Schubert, 1106 Fort, at 10:15 p.m. Saturday at Cook and Yates.

Twenty-one minutes later, Thomas Harris of Comox received a hand cut when the car in which he rode was in collision with one driven by Harold W. Goodwin, 1031 Southgate, at Cook and Richardson. Driver of the first car was Thomas Harris, 989 Hampshire, police said.

Frank M. Skinner, 2535 Garden, was treated at HMCS Naden hospital for a mouth cut after his car was in collision with a parked car on Gorge near Jutland at 11:10 p.m. Friday.

I'd Have Dumped You Police Told by Racer

Driver Fined $100 After Wild Chase

A stock car driver, who boasted to police he could have upset a pursuing patrol car in an 85-90 miles an hour chase on treacherous highway Saturday night, was fined $100 in Saanich police court today for criminally negligent driving.

Frank Newton, Island View Beach, pleaded guilty to the charge and was quoted by police as saying when arrested: "It's a good thing I didn't have a new car or you would never have caught me."

"If you'd come up beside me I'd have dumped you on your side. I've done it hundreds of times on the race track."

Court was told Newton was caught by police on foot after he jumped from his car at Island View Beach at the end of the seven-mile chase starting on Patricia Bay Highway.

He told police he was afraid of being charged with impaired driving "and that means 21 days in the bucket."

Police said Newton was first paced at 70 miles an hour north on the highway and when the patrol car turned on red light and siren, Newton braked his car momentarily, then speeded up to 85 miles an hour for four miles.

Newton then flipped the rear wheels of his car in slush at the edge of the road, throwing it onto the police car's windshield.

The fleeing car speeded up to 90 before turning off the highway onto Telegraph Road in Central Saanich, police said. Island View Beach is at the end of Telegraph Road.

Officers, TV Man Sign Truce

The Army and an embattled television cameraman reached an armistice today and Kiwanis Village Fund is $100 richer after a weekend of negotiation.

James Walton, of CHEK-TV, who alleged assault and wilful damage at United Services debatable's ball Friday night at Empress Hotel, said a settlement was reached on the understanding that an apology be made public.

Lieut.-Col. Cyril Wightman, 3050 Beach, and Maj. Harold Davenport, 2012 Oak Bay, signed a letter apologizing to Walton and tendered a $100 cheque to be turned over to a charity of his choice.

The letter opened: "We, the undersigned, wish to express our sincere apology for the unfortunate action towards Mr. Jim Walton at the Empress Hotel on Dec. 5, 1958."

PUSHED AROUND

Walton claimed Saturday he was "pushed around" by a group of men attending the ball after he took movies of a woman who had fainted and fallen from the chair on which she stood to get a better view of debutantes being presented to Lieutenant-Governor Frank McK. Ross.

A hotel detective "rescued" Walton after he was shoved into an adjoining kitchen where, he said, his camera was torn from his grasp, opened and half the film exposed and ruined.

THIRD PARTY

The cameraman said Saturday he intended to lay charges over the affair.

Over the weekend a third party was called in to negotiate the settlement agreed upon today.

In their letter to Walton, the two reserve officers said: "We regret the loss of film from his camera and tender our apology to the parents of the debutants who would have normally been seen on our local TV station."

Island Greeks Meet Here To Celebrate Anniversary

Greeks from all parts of Vancouver Island met at the Sirocco Club Sunday to celebrate the 17th anniversary of the founding of the Victoria Chapter or the Order of Ahepa (Anglo-Hellenic Educational Progressive Association).

The meeting featured an address by Mrs. Orsa Metra, senior citizen of Victoria's Greek

Jury Chosen In Mantha Murder Trial

A 12-man jury was empanelled this morning at the start of the Assize Court trial of Leo Anthony Mantha, 31-year-old James Bay, tugboatman charged with the Sept. 6 murder of HMCS Naden sailor AB Aaron Jenkins, 23.

Mantha sat in the dock fingering his right cheek as the jury was chosen. Wearing a light blue suit above a brown sweater, the accused, a heavily-built man, occasionally conferred with his counsel, George Gregory.

Assisting Mr. Gregory is A. B. Russ, Crown prosecutor is Lloyd McKenzie, assisted by Frank Donegan.

The case is being heard before Mr. Justice J. G. Ruttan. It arose following the knife-slaying of Jenkins in the Nelles Block at HMCS Naden.

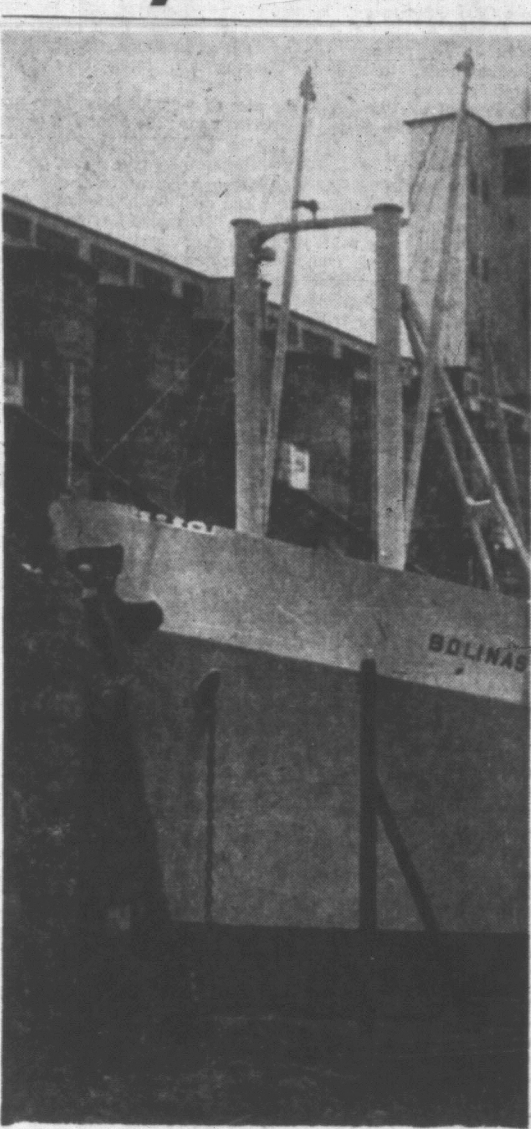

MINOR FIGHT

Prosecutor said Jenkins Sept. 5 came to Victoria on shore leave "and became engaged in a minor fight or some sort of accident" late in the evening.

Later a shipmate drove him back to Naden, where he was seen to enter the main gate at midnight.

At 2 a.m. Sept. 6 a sentry on duty at the block heard a scream and with a friend ran down the hall to cabin 150 "and saw Jenkins at the entrance, with blood coming from his nose or mouth."

"He collapsed. A knife was found on the cabin floor. He died shortly after."

Amalgamation Forum

(The big issue to be decided at the Victoria and Saanich elections this week is that of amalgamation. In this column, as they are received, The Times will carry letters from readers pro and con.)

Man-Made Split

"Where there is unity there is strength" or "divided we fall." These quotations sum up in a very few words my feelings towards the question of the integration of the two municipalities. The division now is mainly a man-made boundary, yet economically and residentially we share the same problems and only by common solutions can these things be resolved efficiently and effectively. In other instances we have separate problems which can best be solved with the assistance of one another. Combined assets and combined borrowing powers will aid Saanich in the growth problems anticipated in the next five or ten years. It is like mountain climbing—there is more satisfaction in reaching the top by oneself, but there is that "if." Yet we know that we can reach the top together and more quickly as a team.

It is too bad the referendum is not being put to the people under the same sections of the Municipal Act. Victoria's is merely an expression of opinion of which over 50 per cent will show the "go ahead" sign to the council. Saanich's referendum will require a 60 per cent vote to "pass," yet 58 per cent of the people might be for it and not receive it.

If our council is interested in a true expression of opinion and direction, why throw this extra "road block" in the way? Let's get our heads out of the sand and be aware of the developments around us.

W. ARCH MUGGERIDGE, 1705 Garnet Road, Saanich.

Come to Us

I think there are definitely many advantages in the amalgamation of Victoria and Saanich, but I don't think Victoria should be the aggressor.

Due to good management over the past few years our financial set-up is improving, and in the near future we should be in a very suitable position.

If Victoria pushes this matter of amalgamation she will create a rift which in turn will develop into bitterness which will seriously offset any gain made by union.

I would say let Victoria carry on as she is, and let the municipalities come to us if and when they so desire.

G. W. ROBINSON, 1307 Broad Street.

Age of Chivalry

As a native Victorian and a taxpayer in Saanich, it is comforting to hear from many Victorians how prosperous the city finances are at present—it is also depressing to learn from this same source into what a dire state Saanich and its finances have sunk.

It is, indeed, amazing that these same authorities are so willing and even longing to share the anxieties and burdens of their ailing sister municipality.

Indeed—the age of chivalry is still with us. Considerable has been advanced about the benefits which larger corporations produce — practice has proven, however, that things including municipalities, are not necessarily better nor better conducted because of greater size—often there is greater opportunity for inefficiency, waste and lack of supervision.

Time and experience sometimes reveal that some decisions of councils and taxpayers have not been the wisest.

I do not think though there has ever been waste of public money in Saanich to compare with the experience in Victoria's Memorial Arena, woollen mill, grain elevator, cold storage plant, to name only a few.

Better far to bear the ills we have than to fly to those we know not of.

WM. J. V. CHURCH, 2952 Larkdowne.

Fair Treatment

A few years ago when the school districts of Victoria, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and part of Saanich were united, fears were expressed that Victoria City with its larger representation on the board, would dominate the situation, and receive the chief attention.

Is it not plain to a casual observer that all sections of SD 61 have been greatly improved, adequately represented on the board and given fair treatment?

Victoria and Saanich are really only two parts of what could be a fair-sized city — each the complement of the other. United, they would still be small enough to be serviced and directed from the centre. Surely provision could be made for a broad-based city council, with the interest of all sections safe-guarded.

It is assumed that the forthcoming vote is to be taken as a general expression of opinion, and if favorable, the final terms will be submitted to the ratepayers.

J. E. BROWN, 5417 West Saanich Road.

SHOULD WIFE ATTEND OFFICE CHRISTMAS PARTY

Is the wife of a company executive obligated to attend office Christmas parties? I have always begged out, because I felt that employees' husbands and wives are outsiders and that the employees would have a better time if their parties were confined to themselves.

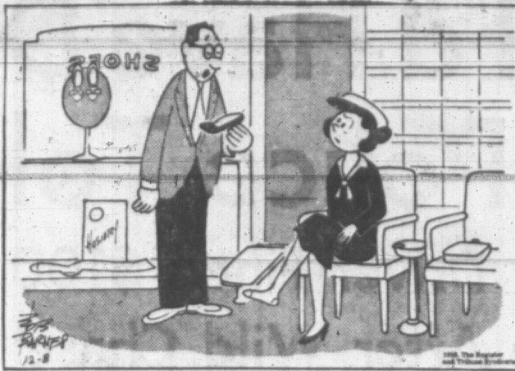

Louise Davis answers: If your husband wants you to go, I suggest that you do by all means. I think that when a party like this is attended by the employees' husbands and wives that it is conducted on a dignified plane and can be a delightful once-a-year affair. It is often the only time when a wife is "exposed" to the group and there can be a better understanding as a result of that exposure. It's a lucky man whose wife is sympathetic and interested in his business and how much easier it is after she has been among those present. A wife's scope widens when she meets new people, and, furthermore, she develops contact with other executives and their wives, which can be healthy for her husband's business future. It is true that wives can greatly help their husbands if they are interested in their activities. By going to these Christmas parties or any other, it doesn't mean that you are obligated to include them in your own social sphere any more than they would be obligated to include you. Many times, however, real and delightful friendships have developed from these contacts. Go, and subject yourself to a new adventure. Chances are that there won't be much shop talk, if any, and chances are that you will go again.

Jubilee Chapel Scene of Pre-Christmas Wedding

The Royal Jubilee Hospital Chapel was decorated with sprigs of holly and candles at the windows for the Saturday evening wedding of Miss Marjorie Joan Walden and Ivan Ellingson.

Rev. A. I. Avery performed the ceremony and Miss Carolyn Johnson, a student nurse, played the chapel organ.

Bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. M. Walden of Edmonton. Groom comes from Durban, Man., where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Ellingson make their home.

Bride was given in marriage

by her brother, Frank Walden. Bodice of her ballerina-length gown featured a row of tiny buttons down the back. Taffeta skirt was covered in net appliqued with lace flowers.

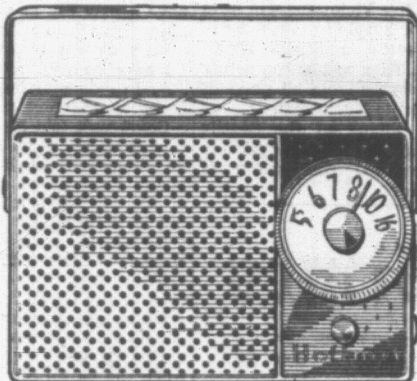

Matron-of-honor, Mrs. L. Lowe, and bridesmaid, Miss Diana Guerard, chose identical gowns of satin brocade in blue shades, with white feather hats. Best man was Larry Lowe, and Bill Mackie and Alan Pederson ushered. At reception at the Club Sirocco, Ivan-Patrick proposed the toast to the bride. Leaving for the wedding trip, Mrs. Ellingson wore a brown wool worsted fitted suit with matching accessories. Following the honeymoon to the United States, and Christmas with the bride's parents in Edmonton, the couple will make their home in Victoria. Daughters of St. George, No. 83, business meeting, K of P Hall, Wednesday at 8 p.m.

SNOW BLANKETS SOUTH B.C.

VANCOUVER—10 INCHES

MALAHAT—3 INCHES

More Likely Tonight

While southern B.C. struggled today under its heaviest blanket of snow in nine years, the 1.9 inches that fell in Victoria Saturday and Sunday was nearly entirely dissipated by 1.3 inches of rain which followed during the weekend.

Victoria is almost surrounded by snow—about three inches on the Malahat; three inches at Brentwood, two inches at Patricia Bay Airport.

In the Sooke area, snow-fall late Saturday had disappeared today, except on the hills.

Nanaimo reported eight inches; Comox 14; Campbell River 12 and the Alberni Valley eight inches.

On the mainland, Vancouver peered out from under 10 inches of snow and more was expected today.

There's Snow All Around Us

Chains were the order of the day for Vancouver motorists who had to buck nearly ten inches of snow over the weekend, as shown on left. Malahat travellers, right, on Vancouver Island, had it easier, but driving conditions were still risky until plows went to work and highway was sanded Sunday. Snow was falling again this morning.

Two Missing on Troller

ALBERNI FIRE

Mother, Baby Flee In Snow

ALBERNI—A mother, dressed in night attire, wrapped her three-months-old baby daughter in a blanket and dashed outside into deep snow when the upstairs of her home burst into flames early today.

Mrs. Sidney Mack took her baby to a neighbor while the men of the house battled flames which caused heavy damage to the residence of Jimmy Gallic, Sr., of No. 2 Indian Reserve.

The fire was first noticed by Sidney Mack at 4.30 a.m. One wall of a bedroom was ablaze and he awakened the other five members of the household.

The volunteer fire department was called but was unable to attend as the home was outside city limits.

Neighbors helped control the fire. Cause of the fire was not known.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A manslaughter charge against Charles Stoneham, 30, was dismissed today on grounds the "grieved party" has been satisfied out of court.

The charge arose from the death last February in an auto accident involving Stoneham's car of Mrs. Jennie Leach, 55, Victoria, B.C. In filing the motion, defence lawyers said Stoneham had reached a settlement out of court with William Leach, 63, husband of the dead woman.

'MILK FOR HUNGRY CHILDREN'

Ground Bark for Dinner

In isolated areas, children eat only one meal every second day when available.

Diet often consists of ground-up bark.

If a child suffering the horrible malnutrition of some of the Asian countries was seen on a Victoria street, terrific consternation would be reflected to the highest government and religious circles. And remedial action would be fast.

The broad highway we all walk through life has many such children standing, tired and hungry, by the side. They are, in effect, the victims of the world's so-called adult behavior—the side-effects of war and economic chaos.

This imposes a moral obligation few would ignore. Specifically this year, the Unitarian Service Committee, helped by the Victoria Times, is again endeavoring to bridge this gap between well-fed Canadians and the children of Korea, areas in India and in Hong Kong. By Christmas, $200,000 is needed to ship dried milk, made available by the Canadian government.

The children are so 'lad to get this modicum of relief for their distended stomachs, it is frequently eaten raw!

Money sent the Times office at 2631 Douglas, or to the Broad Street office, is income tax deductible. Donations should be made payable to the "Milk for Hungry Children Fund". (See donations, page 2)

TOFINO (CP)—A search resumed at day-break today for a fishing boat and two unidentified crew members missing in stormy seas off the west coast of Vancouver Island.

Missing is the 35-foot troller Centennial.

Six fishing boats and the government lifeboat at Tofino searched without success all day Sunday. Officials said visibility was cut by heavy snow. The search was concentrated in the Ahousat area, about 130 miles northwest of Victoria.

The vessel is owned by Earl George of Ahousat, who was not believed to be aboard.

ANDYS BAY—Two men leaped to safety onto a log boom when their 37-foot boom tug sank under them Sunday at this logging settlement at the northwest tip of Vancouver Island.

The men, Lief Nilssen of Andys Bay and Allan Breden of North Vancouver, were rescued by a logger in a small boat.

The tug, Weaver Bay, was owned by Coastal Towing Ltd.

New Clashes On Israel, Syria Border

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Israel and the United Arab Republic exchanged new charges of border attack today as the UN Security Council prepared to take up an earlier clash.

Shooting along the border between Israel and the Syrian province of the U.A.R. was reported both Saturday and Sunday nights.

The Israelis said the Syrians fired for 90 minutes each night but that the fire was not returned.

Cairo newspapers today splashed—under banner headlines in red—identical reports that Israeli forces might attack the United Arab Republic of Egypt and Syria, at any moment.

Well-Known Sportsman Hurt in Fall

ALBERNI—Well-known Victoria sportsman Frank D. Nuttall, 65, president of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers Association, is in West Coast General Hospital today suffering a possible punctured lung resulting from a fall.

He apparently slipped Saturday while getting out of his car.

Dr. Gordon Lott who attended him said his condition was "satisfactory."

West Berliners Vote Big 'No' To Red Scheme

BERLIN (AP)—The people of West Berlin gave an emphatic no Sunday to Communist plans to drive the Western allies out of their city.

But the resounding Communist defeat in the election of a new West Berlin Parliament did not kill the Soviet proposal to end the four-power occupation and turn West Berlin into a demilitarized free city. Red spokesmen said the proposal still stands.

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt braced his people for shocks to come and warned of serious times ahead.

No Communist candidates were victorious in the election, viewed widely as a plebiscite on Nikita Khrushchev's proposal. The Communists were the only ones who supported the Soviet proposals.

Brandt, leader of the Socialists, was re-elected in a smashing personal triumph. His party got 78 of the 133 seats in Parliament, a solid majority. The remaining 55 went to the Christian Democrats, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's party.

The Communist candidates received a mere 1.9 per cent of the vote, compared with 2.7 per cent in the last election in 1954. They never have won a parliamentary seat in West Berlin.

Girl Crawls 1,000 Feet Barefoot Up Snowbank

HOPE, B.C. (CP)—An 18-year-old Vancouver girl struggled barefoot up a 1,000-foot snow slope for help Sunday after her father died in a spectacular auto crash on the Hope-Princeton Highway.

Dazed and bleeding, she was forced to crawl past the dead body of her father and her injured mother, a sister and a girl friend.

Dead is Walter Norman Matthews, 43, Vancouver. In Chilliwack General Hospital are his wife, Wilhelmina, 41, dislocated right shoulder and abrasions; daughter Walline—who made the climb up the slope—fractured left leg, frostbite in both feet, broken ribs, face lacerations, abrasions; daughter Roberta, 13, broken wrist, possible abdominal injuries, possible fractured spine; and Enid Longham, injured eye, lacerations and possibly fractured spine. Their condition today was fair.

Two RCMP constables and a dozen volunteers worked 6 1/2 hours with a mercy sleigh at the end of a long tow truck cable to get the dead man and the injured off the mountain.

The car, a 1951 Ford, slid off the highway three miles east of Hope, just past a rock retaining wall. Hope is at the western end of the Fraser Canyon.

LOOSE SNOW

Police blamed loose snow for the accident.

The girl floundered through the snow for half an hour before she reached the top and flagged down a passing car.

Police said the five occupants of the car tumbled out one after another as the vehicle rolled crazily down the long bank.

Highways department crews and suitably-dressed passersby were recruited for the long rescue operation.

A number of citizens from Hope, learning of the accident, rushed out to help.

Police praised the girl's heroic climb for help.

"I just don't see how she made it to the top," an amazed RCMP officer said.

THIS WORLD OF OURS

People and Things

PORTLAND, Ore. — Richard Gillett, 22, and Dorothy Maneval, 16, had a date Saturday night. They discovered they were brother and sister.

Gillett said they were separated 10 years ago when their mother died. He was adopted by a family in Canby, Ore., by one in Gladstone, both small towns near here.

A friend introduced Richard to Dorothy several days ago. "I sort of liked Dick and we made a date for Saturday night," said Miss Maneval, a high school student.

"Saturday she explained," said Gillett, "that Dorothy wasn't her real name and that she really was Sara Esther Alridge."

"It wasn't until then that I knew she was my sister, because my real name is Michael Charles Alridge," said Gillett, a factory workman at nearby Oregon City.

Gillett said he had known all along that he had a sister, but had never tried to find her. Dorothy said the same of her brother.

Sunday, Richard was at his sister's home, helping her make Christmas decorations.

POITIERS, France—Claude Gachet, 24, has set what he claims is a world record for the hula hoop—eight hours, 36 minutes of gyrating without a stop. He whirled the hoop 67,100 times, he said.

LONDON—Where do nudists go in the wintertime? Well, according to Dr. D. J.

Gibson, an official of the British Sunbathing Association, they go to parties in each other's nicely warmed apartments with infra-red and ultra-violet lamps substituting for the sun.

One nudist, who wished to remain anonymous, said he was kicking off the winter season with a party in his North London home next week and that he had invited 12 men and eight women.

"We'll be running lots of parties in each other's flats this winter," he said. Except for the fact no one will wear any clothes they'll be pretty much like any other parties, he said.

WINONA, Minn. — An all-night drinking party involving teen-agers and girls ended in a deadly game of Russian roulette at a nearby farmhouse Sunday. David Nolan, 19, described as "a daredevil type of kid," shot and killed himself with a .22-calibre target pistol.

LONDON — The Duke of Edinburgh was reported to have been a member of a shooting party which bagged 450 pheasants Saturday in the hills around Highclere Castle, home of the Earl of Carnarvon.

... SNOW

In the interior, Kelowna had 12 inches and Princeton reported 16, while Nelson had 6½ inches, Kamloops only two and the Cariboo was snow free.

CARS ABANDONED

In Vancouver hundreds of cars were abandoned at the sides of streets and highways in the city and suburbs. Most could not negotiate snow-slicked hills.

The city brought in 78 pieces of equipment to clear off main streets. No serious accidents were reported.

Portions of west end Stanley Park's nine-mile drive were closed when the weight of snow threatened to topple trees onto the road. There were scores of minor power failures.

The weight of snow forced 23 boat houses down into the water at the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club, damaging berthed yachts. Damage was estimated at $35,000.

POWER OUT

Five districts on the North Shore, across Burrard Inlet, were without electricity for varying periods because of felled trees and other snow-induced factors.

A blizzard struck the Fraser Valley Sunday and by 4 p.m. the main road between Chilliwack and Hope was blocked by three-foot drifts. Dozens of cars were stalled on the highway for three hours until a plow opened a single lane.

The heavy snow was expected to mean further unemployment. As many as 5,000 loggers in B.C.'s Lower Mainland and Vancouver Island could be laid off if the snow continues to halt woods operations.

LOGGING HIT

The snow has slowed down Island logging operations involving about 3,000 men. Most of the camps are operating at high levels, adversely affected by snowfall. If more snow comes—the forecast predicts—operations could be halted entirely.

There has been little drifting on the Island as winds have been sporadic at between 15 and 20 mph.

A mixture of snow and rain is predicted for Victoria tonight and temperatures will again reach the low 30s, climbing to near 40 Tuesday.

There is a battle between Arctic air and mild air coming from the southwest over this region, and temperatures are expected to remain steady for the time being due to the mixture.

Greater Victoria municipal engineers report no major complaints despite the "heavy" precipitation.

'Smear' Cry Like McCarthy Tactics

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Unitarian Church minister charged Sunday there is a "disconcerting similarity" between the B.C. government and the late U.S. Senator Joseph McCarthy.

Rev. A. Phillip Hewett said during a sermon at the Unitarian Church of Vancouver the government had raised "the cry of smear" against its critics.

He first heard the word "smear"—"a coarse but expressive term"—during the McCarthy era in the U.S.

Senator McCarthy was "an expert in the art of creating public suspicion against persons in the absence of any real evidence against them."

Mr. Hewett referred to H. Lee Briggs, former B.C. Power Commission manager, who was fired after publicly criticizing government financial policies.

Mr. Briggs "has not behaved with the finesse of one accustomed to public debate. That after all is not what he was trained for."

"There is much that has the ring of truth in the allegations made by Mr. Briggs concerning financial manoeuvring by the government."

Mr. Hewett said cuts are being made in government health and welfare services.

Public unrest over earlier proposed cuts had died down "but the cuts are still going on. It is very difficult to get any information about this."

Socreds Start 'Big Push' With Flood of Pamphlets

By PETE LOUDON
Times Political Reporter

TRAIL — The "Big Push" by Social Credit is now underway in the Rossland-Trail by-election. Election day is Dec. 15.

The new offensive is marked by a flood of campaign literature and a stepped-up TV campaign which is dwarfing the spending of the three other parties combined.

Three more cabinet ministers have entered the fight. And for the first time, voters have heard a spirited defence of Robert Sommers by a party spokesman.

The riding was blanketed on the weekend with two-color, slick-paper pamphlets, four to a bundle, a bundle to a house. As well, thousands of copies of a recent issue of Time Magazine, which devotes an eight page section to

B.C. progress, have been mailed to voters.

The Social Credit party is beaming TV spot announcements into the area.

Among the pamphlets is a copy of the apology to Premier Bennett by the Vancouver Province which followed the first partly-incorrect story of proposed government handling of B.C. Power Commission debt.

Huge Pictures of Bennett, Brothers

Another of the pamphlets opens into a three-square-foot poster with pictures of Premier Bennett and local Socred candidate Don Brothers.

Provincial Secretary and Municipal Affairs Minister W. E. Black, Education Minister Leslie Peterson and Agriculture Minister Newton P. Steacy checked into Trail's Crown Point Hotel over the weekend.

They will be joined later this week by Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan and Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston. Premier Bennett arrives Saturday.

Bad weather, which grounded aircraft, delayed the arrival of Mr. Peterson and Mr. Black. They missed a scheduled meeting at Fruitvale (10 miles away), Saturday, but candidate Brothers and Esquimalt MLA

Herbert Bruch drove over the snowy roads to keep the speaking date.

That was where Mr. Bruch made a defence of the former lands and forest minister, Robert Sommers, who lost his seat when convicted of accepting bribes.

"Of all the members in the legislature," said Mr. Bruch—avoiding, as have all other speakers of all parties, mentioning Sommers by name—"the member you had from Rossland-Trail most certainly represented this area to the best of his ability."

He credited Mr. Sommers with having delivered one of the best speeches of the last session of the legislature, and said it was not true this riding was not adequately represented.

Sommers Action 'Mistake'—Bruch

He denied there is an issue of political morality involved in the by-election.

"Do you want a government and an attorney-general who are themselves going to be judge and jury?" he asked.

The government was right in delaying any action until the courts had finally issued a decision, he contended. The opposition wanted the attorney-general to suddenly make a decision which it took a jury six months to arrive at, said Mr. Bruch.

"This has been our stand: If there was evidence of wrongdoing, there were certain ways to proceed."

"If there was negligence on anyone's part, there was negligence on the part of the people who did not present evidence in sufficient quantity or earlier than they did," Mr. Bruch said.

He called the action of Mr. Sommers "a mistake."

"Ever since human nature began, man being human, has been subject to mistakes. Only one man was perfect and they crucified him."

He said the government is a "second look" government and "we are willing to say we made a mistake."

Mr. Bruch charged opposition speakers who criticize recently announced highways department projects as "election bait" with inconsistencies.

"The opposition says the charges by ousted power commission general manager H. Lee Briggs, that in order to be able to say he was debt-free, Premier Bennett was forcing the power commission to make fresh borrowings in its own name, to cancel $28,000,000 in debt on the province's books."

Bruch Contradicts Bennett Claim

The opposition "had to admit this was carried as a contingent liability." It never was listed as direct debt of the province.

(Opposition speakers have admitted this, but point out the $28,000,000 remained nonetheless in the government's name and as long as this was the case, it would detract from the premier's anticipated debt-free picture in 1969.)

Mr. Bruch said the only reason the premier was interested in refinancing the BCPC bonds held by the government was that "when there are bond issues out, there are certain times they can be redeemed." In the case of these bonds, the time is now.

On one major point Mr. Bruch contradicted an earlier statement by the premier.

Mr. Briggs had said the premier intended that various government trust funds would invest in a new BCPC bond issue at a 4 per cent rate of return while current market return rate is 5.1 per cent interest.

Mr. Briggs said the lost interest payable to the public trust funds, plus the loss to the power commission which would be paying higher than the 3.1 per cent it now pays, would cost the people of B.C. $600,000 annually.

Premier Bennett earlier was infuriated at the suggestion and angrily denied there was any consideration given to investing trust funds in BCPC bond issues.

But Mr. Bruch told the Fruitvale meeting: "There are funds in teachers and other superannuation trust funds available for investment, and that is the type of investment which can be made."

CAMPAIGN SIDELIGHTS

By Times Staff Reporter

Add to the names of politically-important weekend visitors in the area—Vancouver's William Black, business manager, Hospital Employees Union, and B.C. Federation of Labor president.

The Victoria Times front page editorial, criticizing the makeup of the Shrum royal commission on power matters and its terms of reference, is being quoted at great length in this campaign by F. E. "Buddy" DeVito, CCF candidate.

The editorial is receiving applause.

Trail got a new coat of snow Saturday but temperatures stayed in the 30s.

It gave proper atmosphere for a Santa Claus parade staged by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, but wasn't welcomed by the bare-legged majorettes. If any of the by-election candidates draws the support the town gave Santa he's in like Flynn.

Trail is the fifth largest "working community" in B.C. which means a major effort by all candidates is directed at winning the labor vote.

CCF MP H. W. Herridge sponsored a labor meeting at nearby Nelson Saturday toward that end.

Obviously, the meeting of East and West Kootenay Trade Union Members' Conference was to obtain the views of trade unionists on "the many important questions in the federal and provincial fields."

But main reason, says observers, is to unite labor vote in Rossland-Trail behind CCF DeVito.

The powerful Mine-Mill Union (2,800 card carriers) which represents the Trail workers at Cominco, split long ago with the Canadian Congress of Labor and couldn't sit in on C.C.F.-CCF political action conferences.

But this meeting was attended by two CCF MLAs, Ran Harding (Kaslo-Slocan) and Leo Nimsick (Cranbrook) as well as labor delegates, and appeared to be a political action meet under an alias.

A local estimate is that the TV bill alone for Socred "spots" must be over $1,000 a day.

The CCF is fighting the by-election on a budget of $1,500 in total.

Rossland-Trail may be in line for another highways project announcement.

Socred Don Brothers said Saturday at Fruitvale: "I believe Mr. Gagliardi (Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi) will make statement on the Sheep Creek cut-off when he speaks at Rossland Dec. 11."

Will the Doukhobors enter the by-election scene? There are many Sons of Freedom farmers in the region near where Attorney-General Robert Bonner is to speak at Castlegar Friday.

Some have children in the provincial compulsory boarding school at New Denver.

Some mothers have never ceased their efforts to gain their children's freedom.

Ottawa Action Called Political Manoeuvre

FRUITVALE, B.C. (CP)—The federal government has been accused of playing politics with its announcement on development of the Columbia River.

Donald Brothers, Social Credit candidate in the Dec. 15 provincial by-election in Rossland-Trail, told a campaign meeting here Saturday night a federal announcement Friday was a political manoeuvre timed to coincide with the by-election.

Acting Prime Minister Howard Green announced in Ottawa that a report on Columbia development has been received and talks with the United States should start next year.

"The announcement from Ottawa concerning the Columbia River development was made specifically for playing politics at this time," Mr. Brothers said. The river flows through the constituency.

Two Waterfront Projects Asked by Nanaimo Groups

NANAIMO — City council has been handed a recommendation that it ask the federal government to go ahead with two waterfront improvements.

A Chamber of Commerce brief, supported by the Pacific Trollers' Association and the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union, has been presented to council.

The projects would be included in possible application for federal winter-work subsidies on labor costs.

They are: The construction of Gordon Street to continue it along Commercial Inlet to join up with Front Street, and accommodation for 800 small boats at the mouth of the Mill stream or at the Tidal Flats. The brief said present float facilities at Farmers' Landing should be continued in use, but the floats at this site were deemed inadequate.

ISLAND 'MUST PREPARE' FOR A-BOMB ATTACK

NANAIMO — Preparations must be made to survey all available billeting spaces on Vancouver Island and have them ready for immediate use because the Island would be the only reception area available if mainland B.C. centres were attacked, school board engineer Jim Thorpe said here.

He said it would be impossible for people to move east because of danger of radioactivity.

Mr. Thorpe has just completed a civil defence course at CD headquarters in Arnprior, Ont.

STUDENTS RAISE $250

Full Auditorium For School Show

Belmont Junior-Senior High School auditorium at Langford was filled for the recent student band concert.

The sum of $250 was raised to purchase new band equipment and music.

The entertainment took the place of formal talent show with gifted students appearing in numbers with artists from Victoria.

Enthusiastically received was the RCAF Reserve Band 2355 A.C. and W. Squadron under the baton of C. H. Denike.

It was the first time the band had performed publicly in concert program. D. Kerley of the Belmont teaching staff, and director of the school band conducted the guest band in one of its march numbers. An outstanding selection was an arrangement of "Seventy-six Trombones."

One of the more ambitious numbers played by the Belmont High School Band was

Provincial OK Not Needed On Basic Rights Says Judge

OTTAWA (CP)—The head of Canada's Exchequer Court says parliament can seek an amendment to the constitution to guarantee certain fundamental freedoms without prior approval of the provinces.

Mr. Justice J. T. Thorson, opening a three-day national conference on human rights, said today there is strong support for such an amendment.

Mr. Justice Thorson, former president of the International Commission of Jurists, was discussing Canada's proposed new bill of rights, introduced in the dying hours of the parliamentary session and slated to come up again in the new session starting in mid-January.

He said the bill does not meet the "needs of the situation." There were certain freedoms—of speech, the press and of association and assembly—that "so completely underlie our federal system that it could not operate without them."

As such, these freedoms belonged to every person in Canada and were not matters of property and civil rights, constitutionally reserved for provincial jurisdiction.

Mr. Justice Thorson added: "There is strong support for the view that these freedoms, at any rate, ought to be embedded in our constitution by an appropriate amendment of the British North America Act so that not even the Parliament of Canada can detract from them."

"And it would seem to follow from what I have said that Parliament could properly seek such an amendment without the prior approval of the provinces since the subject matter of the amendment is not within their legislative competence."

Two organizations, the Canadian Labor Congress and the Canadian Jewish Congress, urged amendment of the BNA Act of 1867 to make sure freedoms such as those in the bill of rights remain untouched by later legislation.

A third brief, presented by the National Council of Women of Canada, agreed with Mr. Justice Thorson that there is an uneasy feeling in Canada today that individual liberties may be infringed, but said it does not think the time is ripe to guarantee these liberties by constitutional amendment.

Pacifists 'Invade' Rocket Site

By U.K. Police

SWAFFHAM, Eng. (AP)—A score of pacifist demonstrators invaded a secret missile base again Sunday but police beat off their attempt to stop construction work on launching pads.

The demonstrators broke through the barbed wire perimeter just before dawn and marched through the mud toward the giant concrete mixer where they were man-handled and drenched by fire hoses Saturday.

Some, including two women, climbed on to the mixer before police grabbed them. One was the demonstration leader, Pat Arrowsmith. She said police dunked her in a pond of mud and cement before taking her with other demonstrators to the base guardroom.

The demonstrators are members of a pacifist group known as the Direct Action Committee Against Nuclear War. Last summer they organized a much-publicized march on the British atomic weapons research centre at Aldermaston.

SLEPT IN HUTS

After Saturday's rout a score of the more determined types spent the night in huts near the base, one of several rocket sites being built with U.S. help in East Anglia. The sites are for Thor rockets which the U.S. is supplying to the RAF. The nuclear warheads for the rockets are kept under U.S. control.

Dr. John Weston Wells, a physician who helped organize the protest, said the demonstrators aim to hold up work on the site.

Weston Wells said police split up the demonstrators and put them in the guardroom. They started shouting and were quickly released. They again tried to get in the base but the police by now had heavy reinforcements. So they sat down in the road, trying to stop trucks driving into the base.

Police hustled them back to the guardroom but again released them quickly. The demonstrators withdrew again, but returned to picket the base throughout the day.

The building industry in Canada is currently using more than 5,000,000 barrels of cement and 15,000 miles of electric wiring per annum.

More about Eaton's

One of the problems most people face is how to make the Christmas Budget stretch far enough to do all the necessary shopping. Below we have listed some of the easy ways to buy at EATON'S. Inquire for further information at our Accounts Office, Third Floor.

Budget Plan

Any purchase you make at EATON'S totalling 15.00 or more (with the exception of food) may be bought on the Budget Plan. You pay only 10% down, and on items like television, freezers, floor polishers, sewing machines, the down payment is less. The balance is spread over 10 months or more, depending on the amount of the purchase. A reasonable carrying charge is made to cover bookkeeping costs, etc.

Revolving Credit

To buy on Revolving Credit you just decide how much you want to pay each month and upon approval we will extend credit of six times that amount. No down payment is needed, and after each monthly payment your credit is renewed. There is a small carrying charge on the unpaid balance each month. Get the details for this convenient plan from our Third Floor Accounts Office.

Cheque Cashing

If you wish to pay for a purchase by cheque, it will be accepted for the amount of the purchase right in the Department . . . or if you wish, take it to the convenient cheque-cashing wicket on the Third Floor. Don't forget that B.C. Electric, B.C. Telephone and many water bills may be paid at our convenient Utilities Wicket on the Third Floor.

Budget Coupons

Do you plan to make several purchases in different departments, and wish to put the whole amount on a Budget? If so, just mentally add up the grand total of the items, or the amount you wish to spend. Then at our Accounts Office ask for convenient Budget Coupons, you spend them just like cash. It requires a 10% Down Payment and regular monthly payments.

Deposit Account

You deposit the amount you wish, then draw out as required. When you shop you use your DA number, then a monthly statement is mailed to you with your deposits, sales slips and return vouchers listed. EATON'S pay you 2% interest per annum on the average monthly balance, and in addition you are allowed 1% on your net DA purchases during the time your account in funds provided the amount is over 100.00. Inquire at the Accounts Office for further information.
